Child Strays on Highway, Killed Woman Executed for Murder in California

Kaukauna Boy Walked From Yard; Father's Back Turned

was killed about 7:20 p.m. Tuesday.

Jeffery J. Haines, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Haines, route 1, Kaukauna, died immediately when hit by a car driven by James R. Smith, 21, route 1, Seymour.

Smith was driving south on State 55 when he collided with the child near the intersection of the Center Valley Road.

Outagamie County Coroner Bernard H. Kemps said death was caused by a skull fracture. Haines told county police he had placed his son beside the garage near the house about five minutes before the fatal accident. Haines said he had his back to the boy.

Smith told police he was traveling about 55 miles an hour when the child suddenly darted into the road from the right. The body was taken to the Greenwood Funeral Home.

Jeffery was born June 2, 1961. In addition to his parents, he is survived by his sister, grandparents and great-grandparents. Graveside services will be at 9 a.m. Thursday at St. Nicholas Cemetery. The Greenwood Funeral Home, Kaukauna, is in charge of arrangements.

Colombia Stays 'In Orbit of U. S.'

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—President Guillermo Leon Valencia says Colombia will remain firmly "in the orbit of the United States" while his administration seeks to improve the lot of the people.

Valencia, 54-year-old conservative, was sworn into office Tuesday to succeed Alberto Lleras Camargo, a liberal. In his inaugural address, Valencia vowed to continue Lleras' pro-Western foreign policy and domestic reform program.

Elizabeth Ann Duncan Goes to Gas Chamber; 2 Men to Die in Afternoon

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP)—Elizabeth (Ma) Duncan, an all-possessive mother who hired the murderer of her son's pregnant wife, died today in the San Quentin gas chamber.

A last-minute petition for a stay of execution was denied Mrs. Duncan only five minutes before she entered the gas chamber.

Stays also were denied the men she hired to kill her pregnant daughter-in-law—Augustine Baldonado, 28, and Luis Moya, 23.

Frank Duncan, the handsome attorney son whom Ma Duncan could not bear to share with another woman, was turned down by Associate Justice William O. Douglas of the U.S. Supreme Court Tuesday in a plea to have his mother's execution postponed for a third time.

Duncan, now 33, and S. Ward Sullivan, Los Angeles lawyer, flew to Glenwood, Wash., where the vacationing Supreme Court justice granted the futile hearing.

The record now is that the U.S. Supreme Court has twice denied appeals, the California State Supreme Court has upheld the death penalty, and Gov. Edmund G. Brown last week refused clemency.

"Leave the room just as it is and don't let anyone else have it," the 11-times married Mrs. Duncan told Corona Women's Prison officials Tuesday before departing on the 400-mile auto drive to San Quentin.

"I'll be back," she declared.

"The detonation occurred at the Soviet test site in central Siberia and was in the low-kiloton range," the brief announcement said. That means the blast represented the explosive force of only a few thousand tons of TNT.

The bigger Soviet tests are held in the Arctic, far north of the central Siberian area.

The Russians resist the whole idea of such stations as a spying device.

According to new U.S. scientific findings, which Rusk said to have outlined to Dobrynin, detection of underground nuclear explosions is easier than previously supposed. Therefore, the United States is scaling down the inspection safeguards it demands in any test ban treaty.

In most of his previous meetings with the Soviet envoy, Rusk has discussed the Berlin dispute.

confident she would escape the California death chamber.

Mrs. Duncan arrived in a blue-and-gray plaid cotton dress for her overnight stay in the holding room off San Quentin's gas chamber. She ordered a steak and pie last supper.

She asked spiritual counsel from one of San Quentin's two Catholic chaplains. Two San Quentin hospital nurses were assigned to spend the night with her.

Baldonado and Moya, resigned to their fate since Brown denied clemency last week, were reported in cheerful spirits by W. D. Achuff, associate warden.

They ordered a huge dinner of lobster thermidor, steak, fried oysters and frogs' legs.

Wolf Basin Unit Wants Work Funds

New River Commission Will Ask County Boards for $12,078 to Study Area

BY TOM TORINUS Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The one-month-old Wolf River Basin Regional Planning Commission has taken its first step. It has asked the seven counties that gave it birth for $12,078 so it can live through 1962. It wants $28,989 next year.

The request for spending money was made informally this week to supervisors of the seven counties that contain the Wolf River Basin. It will be made formally at the next board meeting of the seven counties, Gordon A. Bubolz, chairman of the commission, said today.

The commission would spend the money on office equipment and supplies and general expenses that arise as it goes about planning the preservation and improvement of the scenic Wolf River Basin.

The boards of the seven counties must approve the commission's budget and provide their share of the money. The informal request to supervisors was in the form of a letter urging individual support.

No Powers

Like the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission, the Wolf River unit was set up merely as an advisory body. It has no legislative or enforcement power and no power to tax.

The seven counties that asked the governor to set up the commission and the amounts the commission is asking from the counties are:

Outagamie, $4,270 in 1962 and $10,248 in 1963; Waupaca, $1,150 in 1962 and $2,760 in 1963; Winnebago, $4,827 in 1962 and $11,585 in 1963; Shawano, $862 in 1962 and $1,980 in 1963.

Foes of Satellite Measure Seek Help Of Outside Witnesses

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators fighting the administration's communications satellite bill sought outside help today after getting little or no support from government officials.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee's hearings on the measure—a three-year period agreed on to end a five-day filibuster—must be concluded Friday.

And Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., a leader of the Democratic faction opposing the bill, asked that outside witnesses be heard before the measure is returned then to the floor for more debate.

He observed that all the administration witnesses have lined up behind President Kennedy's proposals for a private, government-regulated corporation to own the satellite system.

Jamaica Base Available if U.S. Wants One

President of New Country Stresses American Friendship

BY ROBERT BERRELLE

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP)—If the United States ever needs a military base in newly independent Jamaica, it can establish one without commitments, Prime Minister Sir Alexander Bustamante said Tuesday night.

Bustamante told a news conference the United States has not asked for such a base nor should his statement be construed as an invitation to Washington to set one up on this Caribbean island 90 miles south of Cuba.

Bustamante said the United States and Jamaica "are friendly nations and the United States can come in when and if it pleases."

The United States maintained bases in Jamaica during World War II under the destroyers-for-bases deal made by the United States and Great Britain. The bases were returned after the war.

Silent on Aid Issue

Since then, the bulkheads of U.S. defense of the Caribbean approaches to the Panama Canal have been Puerto Rico and the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba.

Britain handed Jamaica's foreign affairs before the island became independent Monday.

Bustamante declined to say whether he discussed an increase in U.S. aid to Jamaica with Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, who led the U.S. delegation to the Jamaican independence celebrations.

He said Jamaica had "no immediate plans" to establish diplomatic relations with Cuba or with Iron Curtain countries.

Johnson appeared weary Tuesday from the nearly nonstop campaign-style schedule he had maintained since Sunday.

Johnson made a helicopter visit Tuesday to the mountain camps of the Jamaican youth corps, where American peace corpsmen also are at work.

The Jamaican government announced that it has asked Washington to send 70 more Peace Corpsmen here because of the success of the present group of 39.

Tests Torn Down

The villagers, however, wanted to see for themselves that Rockwell had not returned to the camp. Walter Morley, burly landlord of the village pub, led the assault. At his side was Clement Timmons, 57, champion badger catcher of the Cotswolds. Behind them came 100 more villagers.

The invaders punched their way past cudgel-swinging guards and began tearing down tents. Fights broke out.

A shotgun blast shredded a big swastika flag fluttering above the camp. A villager ripped the flag down and carried it off as a battle souvenir.

The outnumbered Nazis, about 50 in all, fled into nearby woods and fields.

The arrival of 70 policemen broke off the fight.

Far Ahead of Democrat in Light Ballot

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Former automaker George Romney was Michigan's biggest vote-getter Tuesday as he ran unopposed for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

In other primary elections Tuesday, Sens. Frank Carlson and James B. Pearson won Republican nominations in Kansas and Sen. Edward V. Long, usually a backer of the Kennedy administration, won Democratic nomination in Missouri.

Romney, former president of American Motors, had tallied 483,521 votes with 5,148 of the state's 5,199 precincts counted, including all of Wayne County (Detroit) while Democratic Gov. John B. Swainson, also unopposed, had 316,000 votes.

Swainson Tops State

As expected, Swainson ran ahead in the normally Democratic stronghold of Detroit and Wayne County, while Romney, mentioned as a possible GOP presidential candidate, held a big lead in the usually Republican outstate area.

Voter turnouts were light in all three states with most candidates for major offices having little or no opposition.

In Michigan, Alvin Bentley, a former representative, won the Republican nomination for congressman at-large without opposition. Democratic state chairman Neil Staebler, also unopposed, won his party's nomination. Bentley, like Romney, ran as lieutenant governor on the Re-

Rebellious General Declares Self Head Of Argentine Army

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Reports from northern Argentina said today Gen. Federico Tornozzo Montero had declared himself commander in chief of Argentina's army.

He was said to have demanded the resignation of the war secretary, Gen. Juan Bautista Loza, who has been doubling as army commander in chief.

The rebellious general is the brother of Gen. Carlos Toranzo Montero, who rebelled against the former regime of President Arturo Frondizi in June 1960.

The affair at this stage appeared to be distinctly a dispute within army ranks and not a move against President Jose Maria Guido's government.

It could provoke a new administrative crisis. Reports of army unrest have been circling in Buenos Aires for several days.

Rusk Asks for New Efforts To Ban Tests

Urges Soviet Envoy To Help in Bringing About Agreement

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk called in Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin today to put new pressure behind U.S. efforts to reach agreement on a pact to outlaw atomic testing.

Rusk and Dobrynin huddled for an hour and a quarter in Rusk's State Department office while the U.S. foreign affairs chief explained the new U.S. test ban proposals, aides said.

Rusk's meeting with the Soviet envoy, his first since returning from Geneva last month, was described as another effort to get across to the Russians what the United States considers an important proposal.

Rejected by Russians

Parallel efforts are being made by the U.S. disarmament ambassador at Geneva, Arthur Dean, but the Soviet delegates there have informally turned thumbs down.

Only today Dean advanced an offer to cut by more than half the number of detection stations proposed to police a test ban treaty.

The Russians resist the whole idea of such stations as a spying device.

According to new U.S. scientific findings, which Rusk said to have outlined to Dobrynin, detection of underground nuclear explosions is easier than previously supposed. Therefore, the United States is scaling down the inspection safeguards it demands in any test ban treaty.

Tomahawk, Iowa Men Fall From Boats in Accidents

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two persons drowned in separate accidents in Wisconsin waters Tuesday.

Myron P. Brunner, 71, of rural Tomahawk, drowned Tuesday, when he fell from a boat while fishing in Skanawan Lake near Tomahawk.

Brunner and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Milo Brunner, were in the boat when the elderly man stood up to pull in the anchor and fell in. The body was recovered.

Bernard Holley, 22, of Ossian, Iowa, drowned late Tuesday when he fell from a boat into the Mississippi River near Prairie du Chien.

Holley was fishing with two companions when the boat listed. Holley and one of the others went into the water. The other man was pulled back to the boat by the third person.

'Fuhrer' Not Found Nazi Camp Stormed by Villagers in England

LONDON (AP)—Angry villagers led by the local publican stormed a Nazi camp in the English countryside Tuesday night in search of George Lincoln Rockwell.

They leveled the camp and routed the jack-booted Fascists but found no trace of the self-styled American fuhrer.

The vigilantes from the Gloucestershire village of Guiting Power launched their attack in a woodland area known as Dead and Bury Hollow a few hours after the British government ordered the leader of the American Nazi party deported.

Scotland Yard was ordered to find Rockwell, but the Home Office said today he still had not been located.

Rockwell slipped into the country over the weekend to attend a Fascist rally at the camp organized by Colin Jordan's British National Socialist Movement in the rolling Cotswold Hills. Then Rockwell disappeared.

Tests Torn Down

The villagers, however, wanted to see for themselves that Rockwell had not returned to the camp. Walter Morley, burly landlord of the village pub, led the assault. At his side was Clement Timmons, 57, champion badger catcher of the Cotswolds. Behind them came 100 more villagers.

Britain Extends Time for Israeli Airline to Return Soblen to U.S.

LONDON (AP)—The British government today extended until Friday midnight the deadline for El Al Airlines to take fugitive spy Robert A. Soblen to the United States.

This put off a showdown in the three-nation wrangle over Soblen which had been due to come to a head at midnight tonight, the original deadline. El Al, the Israeli airline, has a flight going to New York on Friday afternoon.

Weeks May Elapse

There was no indication, however, that the airline will comply with the British Home Office order. It is under instructions from the Israeli government to take Soblen only to Israel.

A diplomatic source said it may be weeks before the United States gets its hands on the 61-year-old psychiatrist, who is under a life sentence.

Soblen's lawyers issued a statement saying that Soblen, said to be suffering from leukemia, will die in a prison hospital unless he receives a pardon or amnesty from President Kennedy.

If the airline returned him to Israel, Soblen could open a legal maneuver to remain in Israel or seek refuge elsewhere. He has been offered asylum by Communist Czechoslovakia.

Britain reportedly has given Washington assurances it will move carefully about letting Soblen get away but it could involve a long legal fight in British courts.

A diplomatic source said Home Secretary Henry Brooke was expected to issue an order for Soblen's deportation.

This would allow British courts men to put him on any plane going to New York. But the order could be challenged in the British courts, the source said.

The Israeli government has been under heavy fire at home for turning him over to a U.S. marshal without a court order.

The prospect of the United States getting such an order is doubtful since Israel and the United States do not have an extradition treaty.

The British government also is hampered because the U.S.-British extradition treaty does not cover espionage. The government can return him to El Al, the airline which brought him into Britain without an entry visa. But any British attempt to turn Soblen over to another airline for deportation to the United States will

Nine Arrested in Gambling Raids

LA CROSSE (AP)—Nine persons were arrested on gambling charges here Tuesday after state beverage tax agents raided four taverns simultaneously.

The raids were led by the chief of the enforcement division, Ward Williams.

The raids were the result of a month's investigation by the agents, according to Dist. Atty. John Flynn, and came as a complete surprise to local police.

Williams said lottery equipment, baseball pool cards and numbers racket material were taken in the raid as evidence.

The nine were taken before county Judge Leonard Roroff and released on $200 bail.

Sen. Dirksen Says Congress May Meet Until October

Minority Leader Expects It Would Take That Long To Vote on Kennedy Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said today Congress still will be here in October if President Kennedy pushes a "must" legislative program.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, the deputy Democratic leader, has outlined a 10-point program discussed at a White House meeting Tuesday. He has said Congress can pass it and wind up its work by Sept. 15.

"Is he kidding?" Dirksen asked in an interview. "The Senate won't even get the trade expansion bill until after Labor Day. The Democratic leaders are holding up the tax revision bill until after that. If Congress does all the things Sen. Humphrey says the President wants done, we'll still be here in October."

Anxious to End Session

Dirksen and other candidates for re-election in the Senate and House are anxious to end the session and get home to campaign. In that situation, the Republican leader said there is likely to be "quite a bit of wreckage from the Kennedy program left behind" when Congress adjourns.

Beside the trade and tax bills, Dirksen said he thinks Kennedy probably will get the communications satellite, drug control and U.N. bond measures Humphrey mentioned. He said youth employment and mass immunization bills have little chance.

He indicated he doesn't believe Kennedy will get any of the tight controls he wants in any farm bill that may be passed. He said there will be a "further attack" in the House on Senate-passed authority for the President to initiate public works projects in a threatened recession.

Dirksen made no predictions about the fate of a committee-approved mass transportation bill. The Democratic policy committee did not act on it Tuesday when it cleared the drug and farm bills for later Senate consideration.

Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said he hopes to take up the farm bill next week if the Senate can act by then on the communications satellite measure, which will return from the Foreign Relations Committee Friday noon. He said Saturday Senate meetings will be the order of the day for the rest of the session.

Mansfield said the drug bill will follow the farm bill. He would not go beyond that in scheduling any measures.

Drug Bill

The Senate Judiciary Committee which is working on drug legislation is considering a number of tightening amendments proposed this week by Kennedy.

Two of the President's recommendations for further safeguarding the public against dangerous drugs were approved Tuesday.

One would permit the immediate removal of a drug from the market if the secretary of welfare found an imminent hazard to the public health in its continued use. The other would require affirmative approval by the secretary before a drug could be marketed.

At present an application to market a new drug becomes effective automatically in 60 days unless the government takes action of some kind on the application.

Mansfield said the 10 bills discussed at the White House do not necessarily have priority for congressional action. He noted that both houses have passed a higher education aid bill which has been stalled for weeks in a Senate-House conference committee.

He mentioned a House-passed postal rate increase measure. The Senate postoffice committee may attach a federal employees pay raise bill to it.

Money Measure

Besides Kennedy legislative proposals, the Senate and House have still to act on several regular appropriations measures. One of these, for foreign aid, promises to stir lengthy controversy.

Nowhere in the discussion by the leaders was there any mention of a possible Kennedy request for an immediate tax cut. This appeared to indicate the validity of reports there won't be any such request after the President has studied the July economic figures.

Diagnostic Center

MADISON — A trend for the admission of younger and more seriously disturbed children at the Wisconsin Diagnostic Center here was reported today to the state board of public welfare by the officials in charge of the institution.

Dr. Robert O'Connor, chief of the institution, said the proportion of problem children coming to the hospital for care and observation with diagnoses of mental illness or serious organic brain damage has risen sharply.

The proportion of adolescents under the age of 15 is now higher than in the experience of the center which was founded about 10 years ago to provide assistance for other state institutions and to care for patients committed directly by local agencies.

The institution cared for 316 patients, for varying stays, during the last year.

Unions Expected To Strike Rails

Presidential Order Could Halt Sudden Work Stoppage

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rail unions are expected to announce today that workers operating the nation's trains will walk out a week from Thursday if the carriers go ahead with plans to cut thousands of jobs.

There is no expectation, however, that the move would mean an immediate stoppage. It is assumed President Kennedy would move in under the emergency provisions of the Railway Labor Act to bar both sides from taking any action for two months.

The railroads, despairing after a three-year effort to reach job curtailment agreement with five balking unions, have announced they will put the changes into effect anyway Aug. 16.

Expect Statement

As the union leaders gathered here to agree on a stand, one of them, H.E. Gilbert, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, told a reporter:

"I don't think the men will work under those circumstances."

Gilbert said he expected a formal statement later today after talks with chiefs of the Engineers, Conductors, trainmen and switchmen's unions.

May Appeal

There still remained a chance, however, that the 200,000 union members would rely first on an appeal from the decision of a federal judge in Chicago who ruled out court intervention in the dispute.

In Chicago the unions set up a joint news conference for 1 p.m. CDT, to follow a morning court session set by Judge Joseph Sam Perry to issue his formal ruling.

If the strike action were ordered and Kennedy took the emergency action available to him, a board named by the President would investigate the issues and report recommendations for a settlement. That would put off a strike threat until mid-October at least.

The railroads have served notice that they will place into effect Aug. 16 drastic new work rules which would eliminate the jobs of 40,000 diesel firemen and grant no immediate pay increases for on-train workers.

Dismisses Suit

The unions represent the engineers, trainmen, enginemen, conductors, brakemen and switchmen.

U.S. Dist. Judge Joseph Sam Perry informally dismissed Tuesday an injunction suit filed by the unions in an effort to prevent the job cutback.

Lester P. Schoene, attorney for the unions, said no decision was reached immediately on whether to appeal.

No Comment

Spokesmen for the unions had no immediate comment on their future plans. During negotiations the unions threatened to strike if the carriers put the job cutbacks into effect without union consent.

If a strike is called, President Kennedy could appoint, under the Railway Labor Act, an emergency board to review the dispute. Such action would postpone a strike for at least 60 days.

Judge Perry's dismissal of the unions' injunction petition was a tactical victory for the carriers, which sought to force the issue to a White House settlement.

Overhaul of Rails

The rails have sought to put into effect the recommendations of a presidential commission, which recommended an overhaul of the railroads' pay and hours system and recommends the railroads be given more power to introduce technological changes.

When the railroads announced last month that these recommendations would become effective Aug. 16, the unions petitioned for an injunction.

The railroads then countered with a new notice of changes in work rules, reviving their original plan served on the unions Nov. 2, 1959. Among other things, this schedule calls for the immediate elimination of 40,000 jobs of diesel firemen.

Good Idea

His daughter's wooden "ad" attracted the attention of Dr. Roger Gary, chairman of the Roslyn Planning Commission, who noticed that cars were slowing down near the sign.

Gary thought the sign was a good idea and mentioned it at the village board meeting.

The board voted "to carry the step a bit further and install two regular duck-crossing signs," said Milton L. White, Roslyn's public works superintendent.

Custom-Made Signs

Most motorists are familiar with deer-crossing and cattle-crossing signs on the nation's highways. But who ever heard of duck-crossing signs? Apparently no one, for none was available.

"So we had them custom-made by a sign company," said White.

The signs were installed last week on each side of the street in front of the Abrams home.

Beth has been receiving all kinds of praise from fellow Roslynites.

"She's riding on Cloud 9," said her father. "She's as tickled as any 8-year-old can be."

83 Wisconsin People Took Thalidomide

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Welfare Anthony J. Celebrezze said Tuesday that at least 83 patients—including six women of child bearing age—were treated with Thalidomide tablets on an experimental basis by Wisconsin physicians.

The secretary said the investigation still is incomplete, but that 11 of the 16 Wisconsin doctors who originally received samples now have reported, and none of them retain any of the drug which is blamed for deformities of babies.

Meanwhile a study report released in Milwaukee indicated that no pregnant women in that area was given thalidomide by any local physician. The report was issued by the Milwaukee Medical Society's public health committee.

The committee stated that all 14 doctors who received the drug have been contacted. Seven of them reported they had made use of the drug, and each said he had never given the drug to a pregnant woman.

Japanese Plan Talks On Use of Satellite

TOKYO (AP) — Japan's postal affairs ministry said Tuesday the Japanese plan to open negotiations soon for use of U.S.-launched Telstar satellites.

The postal affairs ministry said Japan wants to sign an agreement similar to those West Germany, France, Britain, Italy and Brazil had signed with the U.S. National Aeronautics and Space Agency.

Concern Over Mine

Knowles was defeated by Kuehn for party endorsement for governor. Kuehn, however, faces opposition from Wilbur Renk, a Sun Prairie farmer, for the GOP nomination for governor.

"The Democratic party would like nothing better than to see Republicans engage in a senseless intraparty fight which would allow Democratic office holders to sneak back into the statehouse," Knowles said.

Party unity also was asked by Kuehn, who expressed concern over the recent closing of the Montreal iron mine near Hurley.

"It is not enough for a director of resource development to sit in Madison and draw plans for the next 30 years," Kuehn said.

"Problems Exist Now"

"Our problems exist right now, and the people have a right to ask what is being done to replace the industry that has been lost over the past several years."

Board Asked to Admit More Disturbed Youths

Dr. O'Connor said some of the potential capacity of the hospital is unused and urged the board to authorize an expansion of outpatient services which now account for about a quarter of all the children referred to the center. He asked for authority to provide specialized staff to man a larger out-patient clinic.

He disclosed also that a growing activity of the center is consultation with other institutions which offer therapeutic services for disturbed children.

Such consultation is now being provided for a number of private institutions and agencies, as well as publicly operated institutions.

Eight-Year-Old Beth Abrams holds a toy duck alongside a ducks crossing sign placed near her home in Roslyn, Long Island. Crossing signs provide protection for ducks crossing road from the Roslyn Park Pond to the Abrams yard. (AP Wire-photo)

'Wach Out for Ducks'

'Everything's Ducky,' Thanks to Third-Grader

ROSLYN, N.Y. (AP) — Everything's ducky in this Long Island village, thanks to Beth Abrams.

Beth is a third-grader who took pity on the ducks in the Roslyn Park Pond who were making daily trips across the road and getting killed or injured by cars.

The animal-loving little girl—she has two pet hamsters—decided to do something about it.

"Wach Out!"

She went to her father's workshop, borrowed a piece of wood and painted a sign reading: "Wach (sic) out for ducks."

Her brother, Bruce, 14, corrected the spelling to "watch" and tacked the sign up on a telephone pole in front of their home on Main Street.

Beth's father, 41-year-old Robert E. Abrams, was surprised to see the sign when he came home from his job at the New York Post, where he's financial advertising manager.

Good Idea

His daughter's wooden "ad" attracted the attention of Dr. Roger Gary, chairman of the Roslyn Planning Commission, who noticed that cars were slowing down near the sign.

Gary thought the sign was a good idea and mentioned it at the village board meeting.

The board voted "to carry the step a bit further and install two regular duck-crossing signs," said Milton L. White, Roslyn's public works superintendent.

Custom-Made Signs

Most motorists are familiar with deer-crossing and cattle-crossing signs on the nation's highways. But who ever heard of duck-crossing signs? Apparently no one, for none was available.

"So we had them custom-made by a sign company," said White.

The signs were installed last week on each side of the street in front of the Abrams home.

Beth has been receiving all kinds of praise from fellow Roslynites.

"She's riding on Cloud 9," said her father. "She's as tickled as any 8-year-old can be."

83 Wisconsin People Took Thalidomide

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Welfare Anthony J. Celebrezze said Tuesday that at least 83 patients—including six women of child bearing age—were treated with Thalidomide tablets on an experimental basis by Wisconsin physicians.

The secretary said the investigation still is incomplete, but that 11 of the 16 Wisconsin doctors who originally received samples now have reported, and none of them retain any of the drug which is blamed for deformities of babies.

Meanwhile a study report released in Milwaukee indicated that no pregnant women in that area was given thalidomide by any local physician. The report was issued by the Milwaukee Medical Society's public health committee.

The committee stated that all 14 doctors who received the drug have been contacted. Seven of them reported they had made use of the drug, and each said he had never given the drug to a pregnant woman.

Japanese Plan Talks On Use of Satellite

TOKYO (AP) — Japan's postal affairs ministry said Tuesday the Japanese plan to open negotiations soon for use of U.S.-launched Telstar satellites.

The postal affairs ministry said Japan wants to sign an agreement similar to those West Germany, France, Britain, Italy and Brazil had signed with the U.S. National Aeronautics and Space Agency.

Concern Over Mine

Knowles was defeated by Kuehn for party endorsement for governor. Kuehn, however, faces opposition from Wilbur Renk, a Sun Prairie farmer, for the GOP nomination for governor.

"The Democratic party would like nothing better than to see Republicans engage in a senseless intraparty fight which would allow Democratic office holders to sneak back into the statehouse," Knowles said.

Party unity also was asked by Kuehn, who expressed concern over the recent closing of the Montreal iron mine near Hurley.

"It is not enough for a director of resource development to sit in Madison and draw plans for the next 30 years," Kuehn said.

"Problems Exist Now"

"Our problems exist right now, and the people have a right to ask what is being done to replace the industry that has been lost over the past several years."

Board Asked to Admit More Disturbed Youths

Dr. O'Connor said some of the potential capacity of the hospital is unused and urged the board to authorize an expansion of outpatient services which now account for about a quarter of all the children referred to the center. He asked for authority to provide specialized staff to man a larger out-patient clinic.

He disclosed also that a growing activity of the center is consultation with other institutions which offer therapeutic services for disturbed children.

Such consultation is now being provided for a number of private institutions and agencies, as well as publicly operated institutions.

Diagnostic Center

MADISON — A trend for the admission of younger and more seriously disturbed children at the Wisconsin Diagnostic Center here was reported today to the state board of public welfare by the officials in charge of the institution.

Dr. Robert O'Connor, chief of the institution, said the proportion of problem children coming to the hospital for care and observation with diagnoses of mental illness or serious organic brain damage has risen sharply.

The proportion of adolescents under the age of 15 is now higher than in the experience of the center which was founded about 10 years ago to provide assistance for other state institutions and to care for patients committed directly by local agencies.

The institution cared for 316 patients, for varying stays, during the last year.

First Contingent of 'Preacher Pilgrimage' Arrives in Albany, Ga.

Ministers to Help Negroes In Fight for Equal Rights

ALBANY, Ga. (AP)—The first contingent of a promised "preacher pilgrimage" from other states has arrived in Albany to support integrationists in their battle for equal rights for Negroes.

"We do not intend to leave Albany until we have some word from the President," said one of the clergymen, Dr. Milton A. Reid of Petersburg, Va.

Reid was among 100 ministers who marched on the White House Monday in protest to segregation here and to seek audience with President Kennedy.

The Baptist minister arrived in Albany Tuesday with three other Negroes—the Rev. S. H. LaGarde of Edenton, N.C.; and Rev. Virgil Wood of Lynchburg, Va. and the Rev. Curtis Harris of Hopewell, Va.

All four are connected with the Southern Christian Leadership Conference headed by Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., in jail for demonstrating against segregation policies of this south Georgia city.

Dr. W. G. Anderson, president of the Albany movement, told a mass meeting of Negroes Tuesday night that by Friday he expected in Albany most of the clergymen who participated in the Washington march.

Fiery Speech

In a fiery speech, Reid said the White House delegation petitioned Kennedy through his aides for consideration of these points:

A positive stand on Albany by the President; a personal visit to this city by U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy; a second Emancipation Proclamation outlawing all racial discrimination and a nationwide television-radio appearance by the President on the racial conflict here.

Kennedy said last week in answer to news conference questions that it was wholly inexplicable to him why Albany officials wouldn't negotiate with Negro leaders.

Custom of Lord's Prayer Will Continue

MILFORD, Conn. (AP)—The Lord's Prayer will continue to be heard daily in the classrooms of the Milford public schools.

After a hearing Tuesday night attended by about 375 persons, the Board of Education voted 5-4 to retain what was described as the "custom" of daily recitation of the prayer.

The meeting—and the board's decision—came about as the result of a petition submitted by five Milford residents last November.

"It is our humble contention that the Lord's Prayer is a sectarian religious observance," the petition said. "We believe a public school is not a place for partisan religious observance."

Member Ulic Amena moved that the board retain the "custom" of having the Lord's Prayer said as part of the daily opening exercises.

"This is not a board policy," he said. "This is a custom."

This distinction in wording was made because of discussion about whether a recent decision of the U.S. Supreme Court was applicable.

The court ruled that the official prayer composed by the New York State Board of Regents for use in the public schools of New York State was in violation of the constitutional principle of separation of church and state.

Florida Village Under Attack—By Mosquitoes

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The fishing village of Mayport and its neighboring aircraft carrier base are under attack — by mosquitoes.

"They are about to eat us alive," said Mrs. Amy Parnell, a Mayport restaurant operator.

J. P. Whittlesey Jr., director of the County Mosquito Control District, said extra spraying operations are being carried out.

"This heavy flight is a temporary thing," he said.

He said it happens about once in six years, usually after a long dry period such as this area experienced in the spring.

Volunteer in Shelter Test Released by Navy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy released Thursday one of the 100 volunteers taking part in an underground shelter test after he began to show signs of heat exhaustion.

The man was treated at the Navy's hospital in Bethesda, Md., where the shelter is located.

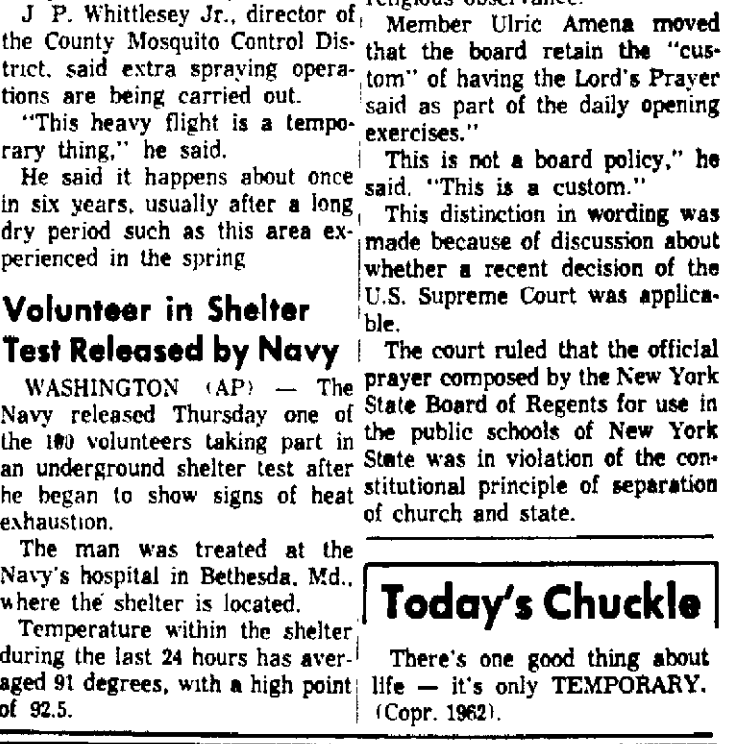

Temperature within the shelter during the last 24 hours has averaged 91 degrees, with a high point of 92.5.

U. S. Economic Community Mistrusts Administration

BY RICHARD MORIN
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has tried to convince businessmen that he is not "anti-business."

He meets them in groups. He exchanges letters with David Rockefeller, president of Chase Manhattan Bank, New York, out-valuated. And he recently gave the business a tax break—long in the works — which was estimated at $1.5 billion, on depreciation of plant equipment. A Cabinet officer points out, "that break could have been given at any time in the past 10 years."

Considered Impact

3. Policy advisors advise, but policy is made in the deliberations of many men who would not be described as "wild-eyed."

4. In the steel case, Kennedy considered the competitive position of American steel and the impact of steel prices on the prices of other commodities. He calculated that the increase would take $3 billion from the economy. He also felt a "question of good faith" was involved, since the United States had accepted a contract that the administration considered non-inflationary.

5. A high-placed officer says, "I know of a lot of pressure on the part of the steel industry. He points out that, in the steel case, the government began 'exerting the public interest' by discussing the contract with the unions."

Wanted Discussions

6. At Yale, Kennedy spoke of several "myths." He said one was that "federal deficits create inflation and budget surpluses prevent it." He noted that the post-World War II surpluses "did not prevent inflation and persistent deficits for the last several years have not upset our basic price stability."

The President also called for a "serious dialogue" in all sectors of the American society on these of the board of U. S. Steel) handled the price increase. But Kennedy's reaction was bound to frighten business."

5. "He played mighty rough with management in the steel case, but I don't believe he will D-Va., and Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon. It went like this:

6. "He says a budget deficit is just a 'myth.' (a reference to the President's speech at Yale, last June 11)

Answers Charges

And these are the answers of government officers—

1. Business had confidence in presidents Herbert Hoover and Dwight D. Eisenhower, but four got to pay it back with interest recessions developed during their administrations. Business confidence is based, in fact, on the ability of the economy to invest, produce and consume.

2. Kennedy expresses concern over the outflow of gold and deficits in the balance of payments. He says the dollar will not be de-problems of fiscal policy, and the increasingly serious economic competition from overseas, is another question. It may be stated in two ways:

"What is the purview of government in labor-management negotiations that involve wages and prices, may cause strikes, or otherwise affect the American economy as a whole?"

Or, as businessmen put it, "How much is the government going to allow management to manage?"

Picture's Different

In the years following World War II, neither Europe nor Japan could offer much competition to the American producer. Exports flourished. There was no problem of a deficit in the balance of payments. Except for a few exceptional cases of broad national importance, government tried to stand aside from the collective bargaining process. Labor and management were permitted to settle their problems alone.

Today, the picture is different. The foreign manufacturer, sometimes with more modern equipment, is competing everywhere with the American producer. The European Common Market is developing.

The dollar also is strained by American military commitments overseas, foreign aid, rising costs of equipment bought there, simply paying the American fighting men. Gold has been going out for several years.

Must Have Voice

In a speech last June 13, Solicitor General Archibald Cox noted these "changed conditions." He linked them with the question of the role of government in the collective bargaining process. He said government must have a voice, adding:

"Note that I speak not of a governmental veto but simply of giving the government an opportunity to be heard as a spokesman of the wider public interest."

This was the real point at issue in the steel episode. . . . Kennedy was asked about this speech and he said he did not think he had read it. He added:

"But this is a free economy and we have to work out solutions on a voluntary basis."

As he has said on many occasions, there are no easy answers.

'Stones' in Glands Crystalized Liquid

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: What causes gall and kidney stones?"—H.H."

They aren't the same thing and don't necessarily occur in the same individual, although a person may be unlucky enough to have both.

"Stones" of one kind or another can form in any fluid through a duct. But the gall bladder (or its duct) and the kidney (or the ureter or bladder) are the places where stones are most often found.

The gall bladder is a reservoir for bile, that useful fluid manufactured by the liver and used for digesting food.

Bile contains many things: bile salts, pigments, cholesterol, calcium salts and lesser items, and like any liquid in which a good deal of material is dissolved, it is easy for the ingredients to begin to crystalize.

Just as rain, snow or hail can form around invisibly small particles of dust in the atmosphere, crystals can form in the gall bladder—and then grow. Sluggish action of the gall bladder changes in the complicated chemistry, or infection all are likely contributors to the process.

The "stones" can vary from sand-like particles (called "gravel") to quite substantial size. The material varies, however. Some contain mixtures of bile acids and calcium salts, some may be pure cholesterol.

Oddly, cholesterol stones do not form in animals—limestone does not form in humans—or rarely do. There is investigation aimed at discovering some way to dissolve stones but without practical success thus far. Some animal bile dissolves human gall stones in laboratory test tubes, but there is no practical way of introducing this into a human gall bladder. So we wait, study and hope.

Kidney stones form in much the same way, encouraged by impaired drainage, infection or changes in the urine.

Here however, the materials are different. Uric acid oxalates, cystine, phosphates and the like are present.

While there doesn't seem to be much we can do to prevent gall stones, there are useful measures in the case of kidney stones: prompt treatment of any infection, surgical or other correction of any interference with proper drainage. Keeping the urine dilute is wise because crystals then form less easily.

But back to gall stones. They occur about four times as often in women as in men, and pregnancy undoubtedly has something to do with this. Likewise the stones are more likely to appear, or at any rate to make themselves known, as we get on in life.

"Dear Dr. Molner: My heart beats fast and then skips. Is this dangerous?" I smoke a lot and

Race of Life Has Course, Cause, Prize

Rev. Vahey Calls on People to Accept Goal of Service

"There is a course and a cause and a prize to this race of life," the Rev. James L. Vahey told his congregation at St. James Methodist Church Sunday.

He called on them to be "runners," as in a passage from St. Paul, "who in spite of the trials and taxes are inescapable, he noted, but 'the church enters the course to say that birth is inescapable, too, and work, and what is more, this race we run has a God to deal with. And what makes the race crucial is not the fact that these things are inescapable, but that we must make our very own decision about birth, death, and God."

Vows To Be Made
"And we in Christianity today, often thinking that we can be assimilated without being decisive — Christ reminds us that there are vows to be made rather than persons to be plucked," he said. "The church is directly involved."

drunk a lot of coffee. Could this have anything to do with it?"—Mrs. G. L. T.

You put your own finger on two of the commonest causes of such irregular heart beats. It's not dangerous in ordinary circumstances, but it's a warning that you'll be better off to reduce the smoking and coffee.

Grapefruit Not Harmful
"Dear Dr. Molner: Does grapefruit create an acid in the system that aggravates arthritis?"—Mrs. F. C.

Absolutely not. You can eat any of the citrus fruits, and while they are "acid" when being eaten, they have an alkali residue after being digested. In fact, there isn't any food that harms ordinary arthritis so long as you eat a well-balanced diet. Gouty arthritis may be aggravated by certain purine foods.

While there doesn't seem to be much we can do to prevent gall stones, there are useful measures in the case of kidney stones: prompt treatment of any infection, surgical or other correction of any interference with proper drainage. Keeping the urine dilute is wise because crystals then form less easily.

But back to gall stones. They occur about four times as often in women as in men, and pregnancy undoubtedly has something to do with this. Likewise the stones are more likely to appear, or at any rate to make themselves known, as we get on in life.

"Dear Dr. Molner: My heart beats fast and then skips. Is this dangerous?" I smoke a lot and stones but without practical success thus far. Some animal bile dissolves human gall stones in laboratory test tubes, but there is no practical way of introducing this into a human gall bladder. So we wait, study and hope.

Kidney stones form in much the same way, encouraged by impaired drainage, infection or changes in the urine.

Here however, the materials are different. Uric acid oxalates, cystine, phosphates and the like are present.

While there doesn't seem to be much we can do to prevent gall stones, there are useful measures in the case of kidney stones: prompt treatment of any infection, surgical or other correction of any interference with proper drainage. Keeping the urine dilute is wise because crystals then form less easily.

ed in translating the cause of life's race," the Rev. Mr. Vahey went on, "and unlike the motivation of 'West Side Story's' gangs, which was to 'get' at all costs, there is in the translation something to the strange idiom of Christ, who came not to be served but to serve. Could this be what we've forgotten? Is our goal to serve?"

"I believe we've forgotten how to purely lavish our thanks to God for the energies of life we have," he said. "Do we know how to submit ourselves to sacrifice if we are required to? I wonder if we convince the world otherwise, unless Christ becomes the cause of our lives. He came running into the world, not to get or demand or be convinced that He had everything coming to Him, but as a servant, to give Himself."

Become Involved
"We need to cease being entertained and become involved in soul and spirit with this race," the Rev. Mr. Vahey said. "You are the 'true runners,' especially youth. This tired, battled world is your responsibility and not the responsibility of your elders. Do not keep safely within the limits of your own customs and set this as your course for the race."

"We can't just claim a specific religious identification and think we're safe," he asserted. "We must accept with the glory of faith in Christ, its ethics and moral responsibilities, for it becomes more evident than ever that we are put on this earth by God not just to live from the first day to the last day, not merely to exist in it, not merely to be born and to die, but we are put here to serve."

"And the prize? Well, some think Christians are people who are always living under prohibitions, giving up things. But this life can be a soaring, stirring happy thing," he concluded. "What Jesus Christ has to offer we receive if we are willing to take a chance with Him. We must love the crucified one more than the joy He gives. Seek first the kingdom of God and all these things — a happy conscience, a kindly carefreeness, a freedom from the anxiety of life, a new appreciation of people — shall be yours as well."

Kimberly's New High School

Kimberly recently broke ground for a new high school building whose design departs sharply from the traditional. Among those departures will be improved health conditions through air conditioning and electronic cleaning of air, electric heating using a heat exchange system and utilizing the heat from lighting, bodies of the students and well water; and lower maintenance costs and adaptability to the latest teaching techniques. Ordinarily a community as small as Kimberly would look to the leadership of big city school boards and perhaps duplicate their thinking in their own school. Instead, the Kimberly board took the responsibility of trying to provide the best that modern technology has to offer, taking the best ideas on heating, for example, from experimental buildings in the U.S. and in Europe.

The Anniversary of First A-Bomb

The Soviet Union began a new nuclear test series with the explosion of a 40-megaton bomb (equal to 40 million tons of TNT) on Aug. 6, just 17 years to the day after the first atomic bomb used in anger spread devastation upon Hiroshima, Japan. The Russians may have exploded Monday's test bomb on that anniversary by design or by accident but it is a reminder that the United States, no matter what its motives, opened up the nuclear age by destroying 60 per cent of Hiroshima and killing and injuring an estimated 128,000 Japanese. The bomb ended the Japanese war and, it has been estimated, saved a million American lives which would have been lost had the U.S. been forced to invade the Japanese Islands in traditional war. The 10 days that followed the explosion was perhaps the biggest news week in history. Very few realized that a momentous day in history had been reached. News stories said the bomb had the power of 20,000 tons of TNT, but the numbers didn't mean much to civilians.

Those Expensive 'Surveys'

We confess to a lingering doubt about the wisdom of some of the elaborate "survey" and "research" and "study" contracts that have been entered into during the last couple of years by the state department of resource development. The recent publicity release about the conclusions of a New Haven research consultation firm, at a price not reported, on the development of transportation in Wisconsin during the rest of the century did nothing to dispel the skepticism. The report concluded that there will be more passenger cars, more trucks, more railroad tonnage, more commercial airline traffic, more outdoors recreational activity during the decades ahead and arrived at the conclusion that the public agencies involved in these several fields of public services must be prepared for such evolutionary changes. But this is a conclusion that any moderately attentive private citizen in Wisconsin, without particular academic preparation, could deduce on the basis of ordinary observation. The question is the source of the basic data, and the relevancy or accuracy of the

Amateur Theater Improves

One of the nice trends in activities in this part of Wisconsin is the growth of amateur stage productions, especially at the high school and college level. As the number of little theater groups has increased, so, too, has the quality of both scripts and acting. At the high school level, the trend has been led by a Marinette Shakespeare production, the annual St. Joseph's Academy musical, and the recent Oshkosh Junior Theater presentation of West Side Story. The old-fashioned operetta, usually an innocuous bit of stale froth, has almost vanished. The kids today are in Mr. Roberts

Children Need Their Parents

Seven years ago, when Clarence Hathaway was born, welfare organizations tried to have him taken from his parents. There was no evidence whatsoever that the Hathaways would be poor parents. They simply were both blind and deaf. But the courts wisely allowed the Hathaways to keep their son. With the help of visiting nurses who called daily, and various mechanical devices as well as the sensitive heightening of other faculties which the handicapped usually show, the Hathaways successfully took care of their son. Last week Mrs. Hathaway died from a heart ailment and the father hopes to continue raising the boy. As the Post-Crescent pointed out at the time of Clarence's birth, it was frightening that new parents would have to go to court

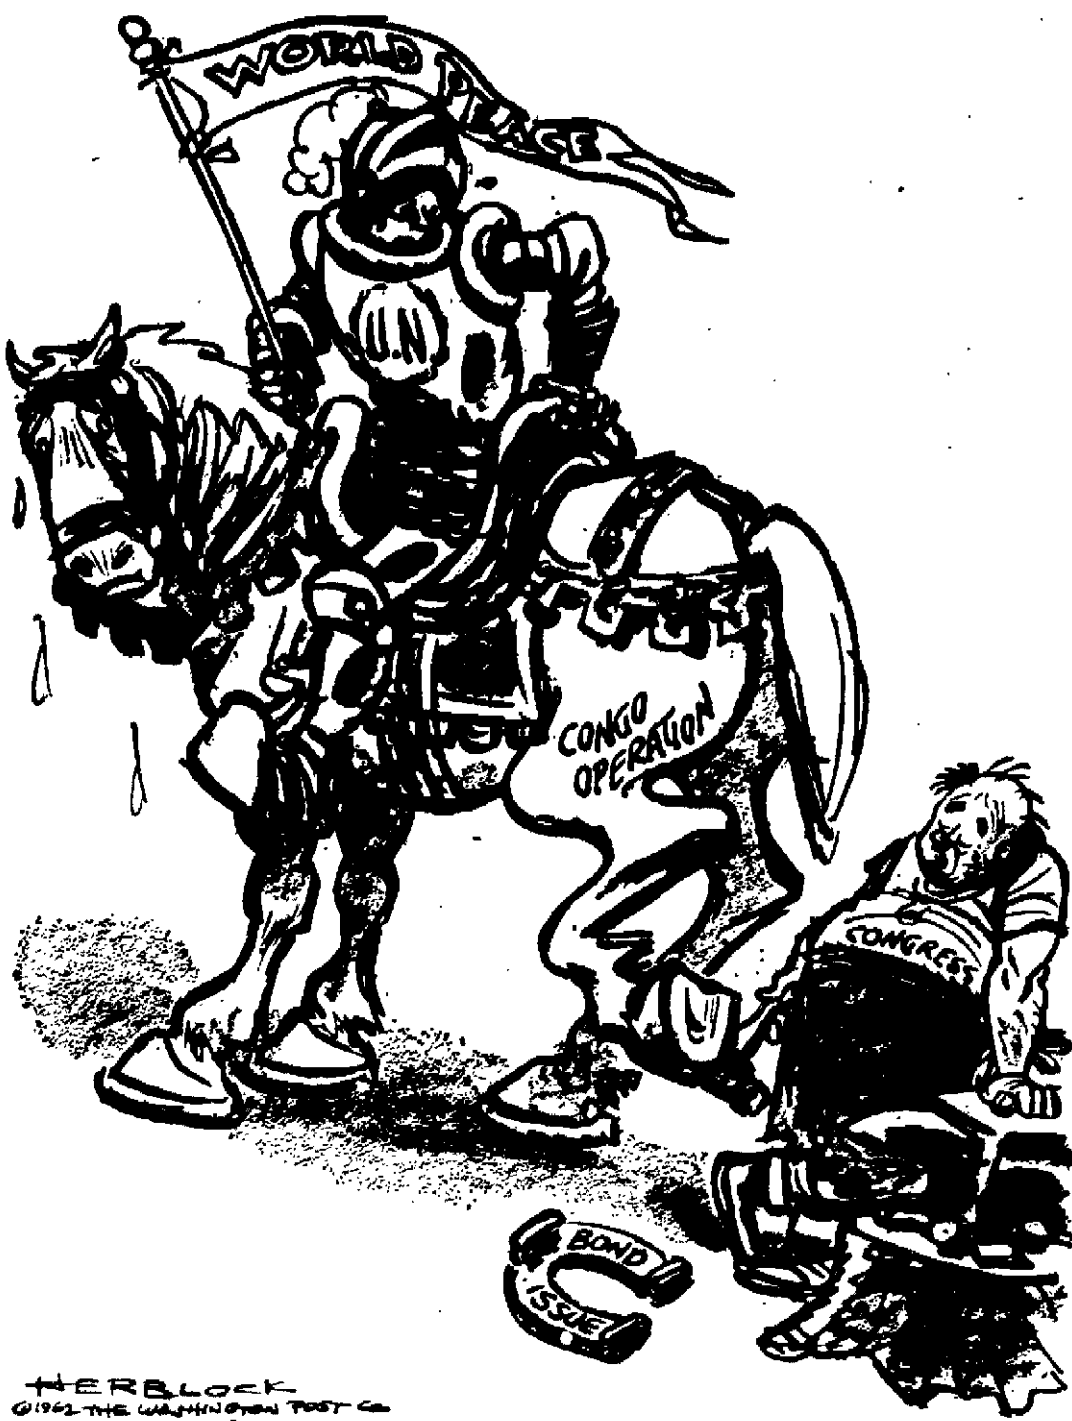

Future students will experience air conditioning in the classrooms, precision control of the learning environment, temperature, light, fresh air and humidity. A few years ago, young people learned the little they know about the space age from comic books and science fiction but new developments are coming so fast now that today's students need all of their energy to concentrate on subjects their fathers never thought possible. If the Kimberly board had decided to build a traditional school, no one would have criticized. But it was willing to take a risk and came up with a plan for the future at a cost about equaling that of a traditional structure. As a result, future students of Kimberly will benefit by having nearly ideal conditions under which to study.

President Truman warned the Japs that even more powerful forms of the bomb were in development in answer to the Japanese refusal to surrender. During that week, the Russians declared war on the Japanese and began a piners movement against them in Manchuria, Major Bong, Poplar, Wis., America's ace of aces, was killed in a jet accident, and another atomic bomb was dropped on Nagasaki. Tense broadcasts came out of Japan telling the Americans they would surrender if they could keep their Emperor. Finally, on Aug. 15, it was all over. It is difficult to imagine what a nuclear war would do to the world of today with two powerful sides fully capable of destroying the other. The United States must continue nuclear testing to keep abreast of the Russians, and the latter may be counted on to reply in kind. But all of us pray that we'll never have a repeat of that terrible week back in 1945.

conclusions. Here a New Haven consultant can do no more than can any member of the Wisconsin laity. He must inquire among the departmental research bureaus of the state highway department, the public service commission, the department of health bureau of vital statistics, the census bureau, and others of obvious availability. We wonder what makes this report by the New Haven planner any more persuasive, for example, than the studies of Mr. Burmeister of the planning division of the state highway department, who has resources for statistical research and analysis that almost surely are superior to those of the outside contractor. Isn't it likely that our own state department of aeronautics, with a quarter of a century of intimate experience in Wisconsin aviation development, can be relied upon more surely for a projection of aviation trends within the state during the next decade, or two, or three? It may seem to some persons that this is a costly business of rewriting what is already known, a kind of academic boondoggling that the strained state treasury can ill afford.

and The Diary of Anne Frank, Brigadoon and Romeo and Juliet. The colleges in the vicinity also have widened their dramatic productions particularly at Lawrence, St. Norbert and Wisconsin State at Oshkosh. The students, in fact, have been pushing their elders considerably with dramatic efforts and light-hearted summer revues. Milwaukee always has had the reputation of being a tough town for the theater. But the influence doesn't seem to reach this far north any more. The quality of local productions means that traveling troupes will have to get better than they usually are in order to rate more than a one night stand.

to win the right to keep their child. A few weeks ago evidence was given by doctors of the dreadful incidence of child beating in the United States. These are parents who may have 20-20 vision and excellent hearing but they are deformed far more than anyone with the most severe physical disabilities. But there is nothing which a court could ascertain until after the events. Young Clarence has had to be the eyes and ears of his parents from an early age. He now has had the shock of loss of his mother. But it is likely that in some ways he is luckier than many children whose parents are healthy in body but small in spirit. Clarence has known and continues to know from his father the parental love of those who have understood what a privilege it is to be given a child to raise.

When Legislators Won't Obey Law, What About Other People?

Editor, Post-Crescent:
In the present installment of the decennially recurrent argument over reapportionment of Wisconsin's legislative districts the continued absence of what should be a major issue in that debate is an ominous phenomenon. Though our eardrums vibrate from the partisan crossfire of charges over reapportionment, there is a disquieting silence over the obvious fact that a majority of our state legislature (as in some past decades) has turned that body into a subversive force. Section 3, Article IV, of Wisconsin's constitution requires: "At their first session after each enumeration made by the authority of the United States, the legislature shall apportion and district anew the members of the senate and assembly, according to the number of inhabitants, excluding Indians not taxed, soldiers and officers of the United States army and navy." That is mandatory, not merely permissive, law and a part of our basic state law. Yet our state legislature in its first session ignored this constitutional requirement, considering it only when forced to do so in special session and even then failing to comply. That our state legislature has defied openly our state constitution, a constitution which gave that legislature being, and that the implications and effects of this subversion should go unnoticed as such indicates how much of the fabric of Wisconsin political morality has rotted away. That creators of law would practice anarchism deliberately was never dreamed of by the professional anarchists. For years we have listened to Wisconsin conservatives proclaim their special devotion to the constitution and aversion to constitutional change is an integral part of conservative philosophy. Yet today we hear no cries of outrage from the conservatives over the legislature's exhibition of contempt for the state constitution. Even though the legislative majority represents, allegedly, Wisconsin's conservatives and, therefore, would be sensitive especially to conservative pressure in defense of the constitution, that legislative majority seems not to have felt even the lightest flick of a conservative finger. What has happened to the conservatives then? Was their devotion to the state constitution merely window dressing to cover something else or have they decided to junk the constitution after all as obsolescent political furniture? Was their devotion a true love or just a love of convenience? Or have our conservatives, like some of our liberals, become addicted to that opiate of party politics, the belief that what is good for the party is good for everyone else? If our state legislature can safely flout the constitution, why be surprised when city councils, village and town boards and just citizens ignore the laws of our legislators? When we condone by silence the anarchy of supposedly responsible adult legislators, why condemn juvenile delinquency? When we fail to punish our state senator and assemblyman for ignoring our constitution, why should we not expect him to ignore our welfare? Apparently the daily headlong rush to accomplish trifles has become so preoccupying that Wisconsinites no longer stop to understand what is going on about them. John S. Denigan

Looking Backward

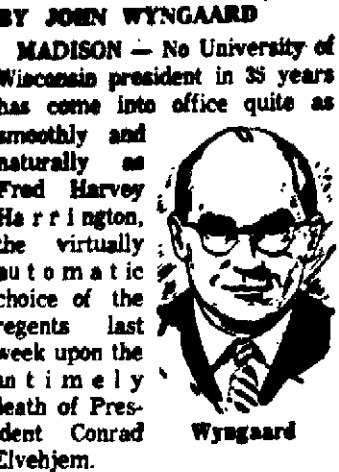

Cotton Sent Into Union Territory

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Motor for Aug. 28, 1862.
(Excerpt from a letter written by an Appleton soldier with the Wisconsin First Regiment in the south.)
Camp Rousseau, Decatur, Ala., Aug. 8, 1862 — In spite of the tyrannical orders of the Southern leaders and the sleepless nights of guerrillas, King Cotton finds a way to daily pass our pickets, and finds protection under the arms of the Government. The slaves are daily employed in rolling bales from the river to the platform, ready to put aboard the cars for Nashville. Why is the cotton sent into our lines? Why are their slaves sent over to put it aboard the cars if the hearts of the Southern people are so inseparably connected with the confederacy? There seems to be a lull in the war at present, but the new policy which is being adopted of late is hailed with delight by the soldiers in the field, and fills them with confidence in the wisdom of the Government and its ability to prosecute the war to a speedy termination. Mistakes and reverses are incidents which occur in all wars, so the reverses or check of our army before Richmond does not in the least shake our confidence in the Government, nor diminish our determination to support it. The Negro question receives its full share of discussion among our soldiers, and many who were death on meddling with it in any way, would sooner see the slave set free than the government destroyed. They begin to see that the Negro is the mainstay of the South for producing supplies for the Confederate army, and in depriving the enemy of his slaves, we strike his most vital part. The sooner done the better.

Unusually Smooth

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
MADISON — No University of Wisconsin president in 35 years has come into office quite as smoothly and naturally as Fred Harvey Harrington, the virtually automatic choice of the regents last week upon the untimely death of President Conrad Elvehjem. For a combination of reasons, there never was any real doubt about the regents' decision. The fact is a tribute to the man chosen, a kind of testimonial to his stature that is perhaps a useful incident at a time when the University faces problems perhaps more difficult and complex than any of Prof. Harrington's recent predecessors ever encountered.

a few years, the regents screened the country again and finally settled upon gentle, patrician E. B. Fred, one of the distinguished members of its own faculty, but a man who didn't want to sit in the front office and who was persuaded in defiance of his own instincts to take the difficult job. When Dr. Fred retired four years ago the regents again pondered deeply and long, and after looking around the country again, returned to the campus to examine the home talent. In the final decision, the balloting was extremely close between Dr. Elvehjem and Prof. Harrington. These roll calls are not public property, but the guess is widely made that Elvehjem was chosen by the margin of one vote and it is probably an accurate estimate. Prof. Harrington comes into office as the principal higher educational officer of the state with the unanimous, if precipitate, backing of the faculty committee, and with a unanimous vote on the record of the regents in spite of the fact that the governing board is clearly divided in political preferences between conservatives and liberals.

In each recent presidential succession there was competition, of varying severity, a minority viewpoint that lingered. Prof. Harrington came to the university campus in 1937, when the scars of the bitter trial and dismissal of the late Glenn Frank were raw and painful. The regents scoured the country for a "name" successor, and came up with C. A. Dykstra, a politician with a reputation for public administration, but without the aura of scholarship that a university community wants if it is given a preference. When Dykstra departed after

THE JOB
The ideal university president is a many-talented person. One of his basic responsibilities, however, is that of political leadership — political leadership in the sense that he is primarily responsible for the posture of the school in the eyes of the public and in formulating a climate of public opinion which is reflected in legislative budget decisions upon which he will succeed or fail. Whether this cool and confident man can handle the exceptional tasks that have been handed him will be shown quite soon. The elections are nearly at hand. The next legislature will face the problem of accommodating the University's burgeoning needs and appetites, and its decisions will contribute to his stature as the university's chief leader. There is a good deal of uncertainty involved. Prof. Harrington will work from an insecure political base. The board of regents, to which he is immediately responsible, may not have its present power arrangements long. Two of its members have not been confirmed by the senate. If there is a Republican regime in the capitol next winter, as seems a plausible possibility, at the least it will be in a position to name new men and take over political control of the board. None of President Harrington's predecessors faced quite such delicate arrangements in their honeymoon periods.

state Legion convention in Milwaukee. Committeemen of Oney Johnston Post to accompany the 54 boys included August Arens, Max Koletzke, H. W. Miller, Thomas Landry and Ray Kleist. Miller was director of maneuvers for the group and Matt Marshall was corps director. The New London Girls Softball team was planning to play in state competition in Madison later that month. Members included Ruth Sawall, Mabel DeYoung, Alice DeYoung, Corinne Bunke, Ellen Fredericks, Priscilla P. ues, Angeline Runge, Marilyn Monroe, Mary Dawson and Stella Fenton, all of New London; Carmen Van Straten, Shiocton, Evelyn Steidl Stephansville, and Alice Babcock, Northport. The team had downed all adversaries except the crack Winnebago team. Francis T. Rooney, Appleton, was elected secretary and treasurer of the descendants of Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Murphy at the annual reunion of the family at a resort near Fond du Lac.

Money Requested By Wolf Planners

Tax Themselves

The counties would raise their shares through taxes. State law allows them to tax themselves up to .0002 mills to provide money for planning. The commission's 1963 request is for the full allowable levy from each county. The 1962 request is for five twelfths of the full allowable levy for about five months are left in 1962.

If the counties approve they will be taxing in proportion to equalized valuation.

Bubolz's formal communication says, "the Wolf River Planning commission believes it is most important to get started immediately with natural and water resource and economic surveys of the basin to accelerate progress and to enable the commission to avail itself of state and federal research and technical assistance."

"By acting now outlines of a tangible nature can be submitted to the member county boards by the middle of next year."

Lose Impetus

"The Wolf Basin has scenic and recreational potential, natural resource game and wildlife areas which, when preserved and developed, will rebound to the great benefit of the seven-county area."

Bubolz said this morning much of the impetus of the new planning body would be lost if the funds for the remainder of the year were not provided. He said the commission is extremely interested in state and federal studies proposed for the area.

The Army Corps of Engineers is carrying on a survey of the basin. State and federal agencies have indicated readiness to do comprehensive land and water use studies and recreation, land acquisition, open space and economic development plans.

"Since the state and federal governments have developed a program, we ought to be prepared to go ahead with it by getting this appropriation," Bubolz said.

Industrial Development

When the commission was set up July 12, Gov. Nelson said the Wolf River Basin faces a new era of recreational and economic growth through the commission's long-range planning. Besides recreation and conservation the commission should concern itself with industrial development, urban development and flood control, he said.

The state has offered the commission technical assistance, and David Carley, director of the

More Than 4,000 Soviet Troops Reported in Cuba

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A Cuban news specialist claims that more than 4,000 Soviet troops have landed in Cuba recently.

In a Spanish broadcast from a Miami station Tuesday, Dr. Salvador Leu attributed his information to travelers from Cuba in a position to know. The program, "Voice of the People," broadcast by commissioners voted to establish WMIE for Miami's refugee population, said the reported troops were sent in response to Fidel Castro's fear of rebellion.

The Associated Press Havana correspondent, George Arfied, said there had been rumors recently of Soviet troop landings, but none of them could be confirmed.

The Miami broadcast said that five Soviet ships landed 2,500 men July 29 at Mariel in western Cuba and four more vessels landed 1,800 troops at Havana July 30-31.

Auto Heir Files For Divorce

Wife, Native of Beloit, Allegedly Assaulted Husband

DETROIT (AP) — Auto heir Horace E. Dodge has filed suit for divorce against his fifth wife, former showgirl Gregg Sherwood. Details of the suit became public today when Acting Executive Judge Horace W. Gilmore "depressed" the suit because of reports of Mrs. Dodge's conduct when detectives tried to serve divorce papers on her in New York.

Mrs. Dodge, 40, and a native of Beloit, Wis., reportedly dropped the papers to the sidewalk in front of the Four Seasons night spot and ran away screaming.

Dodge, 62, alleges his present wife alternately assaulted him and ignored him and that she divorced ended a 10-year marriage.

Dodge alleges she inflicted physical damage that required medical attention, and that he feared for his safety. The suit says the couple separated Aug. 4, 1961. The divorce action was filed Aug. 7, 1961.

Dodge's first wife, Lois Knowlson, divorced him six years after their 1921 marriage and reported to have received $1 million. Wife No. 2 Muriel Sissman, got $500,000 plus $30,000 annually in a 1939 divorce. Showgirl Mickey Devine No. 3, got a settlement reported at nearly $1 million in 1943, and Clara Tinsley, No. 4, received a reported $750,000 when a 1953 divorce ended a 10-year marriage.

hunger strike by some of their death row companions in protest against curtailed recreation time. The curtailment was ordered after a foolhardy break try in which the two joined last July 2.

Olga Kupczyk, daughter of Mrs. Jessie Kupczyk of Benito, Manitowish, started her tortured romance with Frank Duncan while she nursed Ma Duncan in a Santa Barbara hospital in 1938.

The mother had taken an overdose of sleeping pills after quarreling with Frank over annulling one of her tangled list of marriages.

Despite Ma Duncan's wrath, Frank and Olga dated and fell in love. When they married, Frank testified, his mother was hysterical.

Resembled Panic

"It was like a panic she was in," he said.

After two weeks, Frank left his bride's apartment and returned to live with his mother.

"I went back and forth like a yoyo trying to keep the two happy," Frank told his mother's trial jury.

Olga disappeared in November, 1938. Ma Duncan was arrested a month later and charged with posing as Olga in obtaining an annulment of her son's marriage.

Ma Duncan was in jail when Baldonado was arrested and confessed that she had hired him and Moya to do away with Olga as a rival for her son's affection.

Baldonado showed police Olga's shallow grave in a mountain pass near Ojai.

Baldonado and Moya said Mrs. Duncan had promised to pay them $6,000 for the slaying.

All she paid them was $380.

publican ticket with Romney provided the only statewide contest in the primary.

A Detroit attorney, Clarence Reid, who served as lieutenant governor in 1953-54, won out over two other hopefuls — State Sen. John Stahl of Belding and Rockwell Gust Jr., of Grosse Pointe Farms, a delegate to Michigan's recent constitutional convention.

Swainson's running mate, who was unopposed, will be Lt. Gov. T. John Lesinski, a Detroit attorney.

Other nominees on the tickets will be chosen at party conventions Aug. 24-25. These include the secretary of state, attorney general, state treasurer and auditor general, who serve on the state administrative board or governor's "cabinet."

Test in Kansas

In the only major test of political figures, Sen. Pearson decisively defeated former Gov. Edward Arn of Kansas. Pearson, appointed to the Senate earlier this year after the death of Sen. Andrew Schoepel, seeks election to the remaining four years of the term. Opposing him in November will be Democrat Paul Aylward.

Carlson easily won renomination over former Joe Corpstein K. L. Smith was running well ahead of Joseph J. Poizner for the Democratic nomination to oppose Carlson this fall.

The only incumbent Kansas House member with a contest, Republican Rep. George McVey, was losing. Joe Skubitz, former administrative assistant to Sen. Schoepel, held a narrow lead over McVey with only a handful of precincts not reported in the 5th District.

Lawyer to Seek Week Delay in Court Bill Case

Reynolds Starts Legal Action Against Wisconsin Treasurer

MADISON (AP)—State Treasurer Dena Smith's attorney said today he will seek a week's delay in a suit to compel her to authorize payment of $3,500 to cover federal court costs in Wisconsin's reapportionment case.

Mrs. Smith is scheduled to appear in a Dane County Circuit Court late today to show cause why she should not be required to release the money.

Atty. Gen. John W. Reynolds, who instituted the federal court reapportionment case, started Circuit Court suit against Mrs. Smith after she refused to approve the check.

Insurance Groups Shed Poor Risks

MADISON (AP)—Officials of the state insurance department say most automobile insurance companies in Wisconsin are shedding poor risk policyholders and the agents selling the policies because of increasing claims throughout the nation.

"Most companies are trying to devise plans to turn losses into profits," commissioner Charles Manson said Monday. He said he knew of no companies in danger of going out of business.

Deputy commissioner Charles Timbers said that according to quarterly financial statements made by the companies to the agency, companies were showing severe losses.

"Reports show that certain companies had lost surplus ranging from $100,000 to $500,000 in three months," he added.

Reasons given by various commission members included: Many car accidents during last year's severe winter, more cars on the road, an increase in the size of the average claim and more liberal damage awards by courts.

U. W. Installs Aquatic Scientists' Program

MADISON (AP)—The University of Wisconsin is installing a new training program for aquatic scientists.

Financed by a $48,268 grant from the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, the program will be headquartered in the school's new hydrobiology laboratory on the shore of Lake Mendota.

Dr. Arthur D. Hasler, the lab director, said the program will require the staff addition of a fishery biologist and a microbiologist. Visiting lecturers also will be assigned to the teaching force.

The university will be host Aug. 20-25 to the 13th international congress of limnology.

Man Indicted for Taking Forged Checks Across State Lines

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A federal grand jury indicted a Milwaukee businessman Tuesday on three counts of transporting forged checks across state lines.

Kenneth H. Moe, 36, operator of the Midwest Supply Co., an office supply firm, was accused of transporting three fraudulent checks totaling $7,442 from Waukegan, Ill., to Racine.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation said Moe was accused of operating a fraudulent scheme by drawing checks on five banks—one in Milwaukee, two in Racine and two in Waukegan—without having money to cover them.

Balanced Meals Needed During Summer Months

When temperatures climb into the 90's and when the very air you breathe feels like a blanket of soggy cotton — then is the time to keep a weather eye on family diet habits. The warning comes from Dr. Robert S. Goodhart, author of several books on nutrition and president and director of a major scientific research foundation.

"Most people tend to eat less in hot weather," Dr. Goodhart points out. "They forget that, whatever the weather, the body is still working full time and it still needs a consistent fuel supply." He gave these hot weather diet tips in a recent interview:

Supplement With Vitamins

Will plenty of fresh air and sunlight provide all the vitamins you need? . . . Not a chance. The only vitamin your body absorbs from sunlight is Vitamin D. You still need your full daily requirement of vitamins, minerals and other nutrients.

What's the best time of day to have one's biggest meal? . . . Probably evening, when the outside temperatures are lower. Don't forget that eating itself generates some body heat. Large meals might well be avoided. Divide the day's food into 3 to 4 equal, relatively light meals.

Safeguard Health

Any other safeguards for a healthy summer diet? . . . Don't forget that increased exercise and increased perspiration deplete your salt supply; get enough salt. Generally this can be assured by the liberal use of the shaker at meal time.

If common sense tells you you're short-changing yourself on good, nutritious food in sufficient quantities, a supplementary vitamin preparation can increase your supply of these essential nutrients.

Finally, adds Dr. Goodhart, sensible hot weather diets and eating habits will contribute to the whole family's enjoyment of the good old summer — at the same time they literally "take the heat off" the cook!

Cooking, Laundry Tips To Help Homemakers

BY ISABEL DU BOIS
Chicago Daily News Service

Q. "How much does rice increase in volume after cooking?"
A. It depends upon what type of rice you're using: some types expand more than others. Milled rice will triple during cooking. Therefore for three cups of cooked rice use one cup of uncooked milled rice. Pre-cooked rice on the other hand only doubles when you prepare it. With this type you'll need one and one-half cups to yield three cups of cooked product. Another type known as parboiled rice expands nearly four times in cooking.
Q. "After washing a skirt I noticed two paint stains. What is the best way to remove them?"
A. Turpentine is usually effective on paint stains. However, be sure to test fabric for color fading or effect on the finish before using.

Reduce Lint

Q. "I have a pair of black corduroy slacks. I wash them separately from my other wash and still they are full of lint. Can you give me any helpful hints?"
A. Some of the lint may be coming from the waistband lining, also from the pockets. Usually these are made from heavy duck-like fabric that sheds some lint.

CHICAGO — Democratic woman, secretary to Mayor Richard Daley, said Mrs. Kennedy is displaying rather questionable taste — attempting to make a political issue of Mrs. Kennedy's private life. "Actually, she couldn't be more wrong. In my opinion, any poll would show that Mrs. Kennedy is exceedingly popular. I think she has excellent taste in her dress, but what she wears should be her own concern—not Mrs. Williams."

Questions On Sewing

Finishing certain parts of a garment by hand is excellent, but hand sewing does have its limitations. Some of these limitations are mentioned in my answer to the lady who wrote the question below.

Q. I would like to make a dress entirely by hand sewing. Is it possible to do this and produce a durable garment with a finished look? What stitch is used? Mrs. H. A.

A. It is possible to make a dress by hand, but I can't say it will be as durable or will have the finished look of a machine-stitched one. Use a very small back stitch on all seams, darts, etc. This stitch will last longer than any other hand stitch. But be sure to make your stitches very close together. If there are spaces between them, your seams will look as though they're splitting when you wear the dress.

Q. How can I make covered rope belts? They give dresses a professional look. Mrs. C. G.

A. Cut a bias strip of fabric the length you wish the belt to be. The width of the strip will depend on the thickness of the cable cord you use. It should fit around the cord with a half-inch for seam allowance. Cut a length of cable cord twice as long as the bias strip. Place one end of cord on bias strip with the other end hanging loose. Fold bias over cord and stitch over cord using a cord-stitch foot (top illustration). At the center of the cord where the bias strip ends, stay stitch across the cord and the strip as in center illustration. Then gently pull bias over cord hanging loose until the entire loose end is covered. Cut off the end that is now uncovered. Hand tack both ends of belt so that fabric is securely tucked in. Make a knot at each end and your belt is finished.

Q. If a person is longer from waist to full part of the hips and longer from hips to the knees, it seems to me that lengthening the skirt pattern at the bottom only would not be sufficient. How would this be done? Miss B. W.

A. You're right, it wouldn't. First, take a look at any skirt pattern. You'll see that there is a line printed across the skirt near the hip that says "lengthen or shorten here." To lengthen, cut pattern across this line; spread the pattern pieces the necessary amount; slide a piece of paper under the pieces; pin pattern pieces to the added piece and that's it.

Sheinwold Gentlemen Are Losers

had to work like a beaver to go down only one trick. He wound up losing one spade, one diamond and two clubs.

"Did I play that hand right?" South wondered out loud as he gave the opponents 100 points on the scoreboard.

"You didn't play it at all," North growled. "You just went down like a gentleman."

No Compliment

No compliment was intended, but South could hardly object. In fact, he eventually agreed with his partner's analysis.

North pointed out that declarer should play low spades from the dummy at the first two tricks, thus discovering that East has at least three spades headed by the ace. This makes it clear that East cannot have the king of clubs, for East would not pass with trump support, an ace and a king.

If West has the king of clubs there is no advantage in finessing South should lead out the ace of clubs. When the jack drops, South can draw trumps and lead a low club to force out the king.

Regardless of the return, South can enter dummy with a trump to lead a club through East. Declarer wins a finesse with the nine of clubs and discards a diamond from dummy on the queen of clubs. There is no further problem.

A gentleman who remembers the bidding is no gentleman; he's a bridge player.

Daily Question

Dealer bids one heart, your partner overcalls with one spade, and the next player passes. You hold S-K-5-2, H-A-10-9-3; D-9-7-4; C-6-5-2. What do you say?

Answer: Bid two spades. Raise partner's overcall much as though it were an opening bid. The raise should promise only trump support and very modest help.

First Lady Arrives at Italian Villa

BY ALLAN JACOB

ROME (AP)—Jacqueline Kennedy and Caroline arrived in Italy today for a private holiday in an ancient cliff-top villa on the Amalfi coast.

The American president's wife and daughter landed in Rome aboard a Pan American jetliner after a nonstop overnight flight from New York. They traveled aboard a regular commercial flight in a special bedroom converted from a four-seat section.

Mrs. Kennedy and her 4-year-old daughter will spend their holiday in an 11th century green and white two-story villa at Ravello, 30 miles southeast of Naples. It has been rented by Mrs. Kennedy's sister, Princess Lee Radziwill and her husband, Prince Stanislas.

On Bay of Salerno

In the past, Villa Episcopo has housed actress Greta Garbo and conductor Leopold Stokowski.

Queen Juliana of The Netherlands, composer Richard Wagner and Italy's late King Victor Emmanuel III.

The 10-room villa overlooks the Bay of Salerno from the highest point in Ravello.

More than 65 Italian police and U.S. Secret Service agents stood by to seal off the First Lady and her small daughter from enthusiastic Italians, eager for a close look at the pair during their two-week stay.

Mayor Lorenzo Mansi asked that signs referring to Mrs. Kennedy as the President's wife be taken down because her visit is private. Now they all refer to her as Jacqueline.

Police officials said despite the enthusiastic preparations, no one will be allowed near Mrs. Kennedy. Tuesday police and U.S. Secret Service agents made a final dry run of their security measures using the Radziwills as stand-ins.

Except for brief trips to the nearby Isle of Capri and the ruins of Pompeii, Mrs. Kennedy is expected to spend most of her time at the villa and at the beach.

This Close-Up of Four-Year-Old Caroline Kennedy was made as she and her mother, Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy, left a New York hotel for the airport and start of their overnight plane trip to Italy. They will stay at a villa on the Amalfi coast during their vacation. On arrival in Rome this morning, Caroline was reported having difficulty adjusting to Italian time, which is several hours ahead of New York. (AP Wirephoto)

Today's Etiquette

BY LOUISE DAVIS

My mail has been flooded since early June with post cards from my vacationing friends, relatives and acquaintances. Invariably, the messages will be signed Mary, Jean, Helen, Bob, Jack, Bill, and such names.

Sometimes I get initials. I know lots of people with those names and am usually completely baffled as to who these cardsenders are. Sometimes the handwriting helps identification.

Half the time I don't know that they were to take off on vacation or business trips. I am forever stymied. I think that people should give more complete clues.

A last name would clinch it. Perhaps my complaint will inspire other travelers to make it easier for their friends back home. I already have 7 puzzlers and before the season is over, I hope to be a cryptographer!

Louise Davis Answers:

I'm sure that many of us have similar experiences. I hope that your comments will help those vacationers who unintentionally mystify their friends. Cards are fun to receive but we do like to know who is sending them.

Q. My Scotch Terrier barks and growls at everyone who comes to the door. Is this characteristic of the breed? Susan Amolsch, Avon Lake, Ohio.

A. A Scotch Terrier wouldn't be a Scottie if he hadn't many of the characteristics of the Scotsman. He is a little hard-headed, aggressive, canny and extremely intelligent. Unfortunately continual inbreeding has heightened his aggressiveness. Some members of this clan have become quite possessive and often a little unreliable. There is not much you can do to change a basic characteristic but remember that under this aggressiveness is the friendliness of the true Scot. Try to develop his better instincts through kindness and understanding.

Mrs. J. B. "My twin boys have outgrown their cowboy paper but everything I look at to replace it seems like too young for them or too grown up. I know plaids and stripes are supposed to be very good for boys' rooms, but do you have any other suggestions?"

Look at vinyl wall coverings in plain colors and textured effects. No boys are too old for hardness to be an advantage in wall surfacing, and since patterns become almost as varied for vinyls as for papers, you may find something you like in a pattern, too.

Your Problems

'Intellectual Giant' Lords It Over His Less-Educated Girl

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: In your opinion, what are the chances of a marriage working between two people of different educational levels?

I've been going with a bachelor 37 years of age. He has had two years of college. I have had only high school. I hold a good job and have done well in the business world. He is the only person I know who makes me feel inferior because I didn't go to college. When we have a difference of opinion he always concludes with: "Well, what do you know. With your limited education your opinion doesn't count for anything."

Last night, he threw my ignorance into my teeth once too often. I told him we were through for good.

This morning he phoned and said he'd like to try again. What do you think of our chances for making a go of it? — Illiterate

DEAR ILLITERATE: No good. And schooling has nothing to do with it.

So the lumox had two years of college. Big deal. If, in 37 years he hasn't learned anything about humility, consideration and kindness, he's the one who is ignorant, not you.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 52 but could pass for younger. My husband died eight years ago and I am running his business.

Three years ago I started to go with a charming bachelor who is now 64 years of age. Alfred lives with his widowed sister whose age I do not know, but I would guess she is about 66. A spinster niece who is about 45 lives with them also.

I enjoy Alfred's company more than anyone else's. He takes me to all the finest places, money is no object, and our friends think of us as a couple.

I want to be married and I've made this clear in recent months. Alfred says he promised his mother he would always look after his sister and he cannot break the promise. He has asked me to wait until his sister dies.

If I break off with Alfred I will be terribly lonely, but when I think about the future, it frightens me. Please help me to see this clearly. — Blurred Vision

DEAR BLURRED: 32 is no age to be sitting around waiting for a man's sister to die.

Get with it, Honey. He doesn't die married. If Alfred's sister died, he'd probably tell you he has to look after his niece. This man hasn't been a bachelor all these years for nothing.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a boy 16 and have never asked a girl for a date. I am not exactly bashful but I need a little help in starting off right.

This chick I want to ask is 15 and has a real great personality. Her mother and my mother are good friends. Also, my brother has dated her sister.

Seeing as how I have never taken out a date before should I ask my mother to ask her mother?

Or should I ask my brother to speak to her sister?

You'd better read this over a couple of times because I know I know I am not making this clear. This will give you an idea of how mixed up I am. Thank you. — George

DEAR GEORGE: It's the girl you want to take out, isn't it? Well then ask her and leave the rest of the class out of it. You're welcome.

To learn the knack of feeling comfortable with the opposite sex, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "How To Be Date Bait," enclosing with your request 30 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The Ailing House

Saving Mildewed Cotton

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q. A pair of sheets and pillow cases (cotton) were left in a damp basement and have mildew spots on them. How can the mildew be removed?

A. Fresh mildew can be removed with soap and water. Or soak with sour milk and expose to the sun. Or rub with laundry soap, cover with powdered starch and salt, then expose to sun. Older mildew stains can be removed with a mild household bleach solution, or ammonia in water.

Discoloration on Silks

Q. How can I remove black, discolored areas on window silks? They are from excessive moisture on the windows.

A. Remove the finish down to bare wood (paint remover for paint or varnish, denatured alcohol for shellac). Then apply commercial wood bleach to the discolored areas, or use hot, saturated solution of oxalic acid (poison!) and allow to remain overnight. In the morning, rinse off bleach solution with plenty of clear water to remove all trace of acid. When wood is thoroughly dry, sand smooth and wipe off dust. Apply coat of pure, fresh shellac to seal surface; finish as desired. To eliminate excessive moisture in house air, I suggest sending 25 cents to National Mineral Wool Insulation Association, 1270 Sixth Ave., New York 20, N. Y., for their excellent booklet "Control of Moisture in Homes" on methods of overcoming the problem.

If I break off with Alfred I will be terribly lonely, but when I think about the future, it frightens me. Please help me to see this clearly. — Blurred Vision

DEAR BLURRED: 32 is no age to be sitting around waiting for a man's sister to die.

Get with it, Honey. He doesn't die married. If Alfred's sister died, he'd probably tell you he has to look after his niece. This man hasn't been a bachelor all these years for nothing.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a boy 16 and have never asked a girl for a date. I am not exactly bashful but I need a little help in starting off right.

This chick I want to ask is 15 and has a real great personality. Her mother and my mother are good friends. Also, my brother has dated her sister.

Seeing as how I have never taken out a date before should I ask my mother to ask her mother?

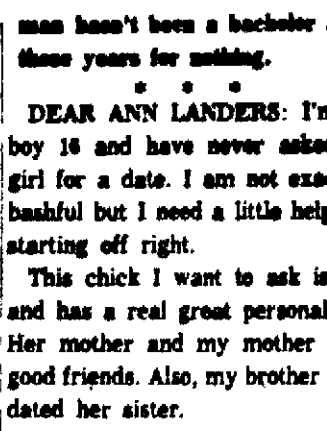

Or should I ask my brother to speak to her sister?

You'd better read this over a couple of times because I know I know I am not making this clear. This will give you an idea of how mixed up I am. Thank you. — George

The Ailing House

Saving Mildewed Cotton

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q. A pair of sheets and pillow cases (cotton) were left in a damp basement and have mildew spots on them. How can the mildew be removed?

A. Fresh mildew can be removed with soap and water. Or soak with sour milk and expose to the sun. Or rub with laundry soap, cover with powdered starch and salt, then expose to sun. Older mildew stains can be removed with a mild household bleach solution, or ammonia in water.

Discoloration on Silks

Q. How can I remove black, discolored areas on window silks? They are from excessive moisture on the windows.

A. Remove the finish down to bare wood (paint remover for paint or varnish, denatured alcohol for shellac). Then apply commercial wood bleach to the discolored areas, or use hot, saturated solution of oxalic acid (poison!) and allow to remain overnight. In the morning, rinse off bleach solution with plenty of clear water to remove all trace of acid. When wood is thoroughly dry, sand smooth and wipe off dust. Apply coat of pure, fresh shellac to seal surface; finish as desired. To eliminate excessive moisture in house air, I suggest sending 25 cents to National Mineral Wool Insulation Association, 1270 Sixth Ave., New York 20, N. Y., for their excellent booklet "Control of Moisture in Homes" on methods of overcoming the problem.

PET DOCTOR

By A. W. Moller, D.V.M.

Q. My Scotch Terrier barks and growls at everyone who comes to the door. Is this characteristic of the breed? Susan Amolsch, Avon Lake, Ohio.

A. A Scotch Terrier wouldn't be a Scottie if he hadn't many of the characteristics of the Scotsman. He is a little hard-headed, aggressive, canny and extremely intelligent. Unfortunately continual inbreeding has heightened his aggressiveness. Some members of this clan have become quite possessive and often a little unreliable. There is not much you can do to change a basic characteristic but remember that under this aggressiveness is the friendliness of the true Scot. Try to develop his better instincts through kindness and understanding.

(You can have a pamphlet on Hot Weather Care of Dogs by sending 10 cents and self-addressed long envelope to Dr. Moller in care of this newspaper.)

Mrs. J. B. "My twin boys have outgrown their cowboy paper but everything I look at to replace it seems like too young for them or too grown up. I know plaids and stripes are supposed to be very good for boys' rooms, but do you have any other suggestions?"

Look at vinyl wall coverings in plain colors and textured effects. No boys are too old for hardness to be an advantage in wall surfacing, and since patterns become almost as varied for vinyls as for papers, you may find something you like in a pattern, too.

Marilyn Seemed to Be Destined for Stardom

Even at Beginning, There Was a Special Aura About Miss Monroe

BY BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Memories of Marilyn. When I saw Marilyn Monroe for the last time, she had the figure of a starlet, but the unmistakable aura of a star. It was two months ago on the set of "Something's Got to Give," and she gave one of her last interviews. Actually it was more like a conversation with an old friend, for she was warm and witty. She was still glowing from her tumultuous reception at President Kennedy's birthday celebration in Madison Square Garden. She looked great. Gone was the pot tummy that she had displayed in recent movies. She had dropped 15 pounds and I asked her how she did it. "It helps to have a bad gall bladder," said Marilyn, who had hers removed a year ago. The rest is low cholesterol. Avoid animal fats. Who needs them? Eskimos, maybe. Not us. She talked gaily of her forthcoming 36th birthday and said "I like celebrating birthdays. I enjoy knowing that I'm alive." She was doing a scene with two child actors who were playing her children in the film. Her concern for them was strangely touching. The boy was shivering after a swimming scene and she wouldn't continue until an electric heater was installed to warm him. Between scenes her conversation was punctuated with high laughter. Despite her exhilaration there was an undertone of the trouble that lay ahead. I mentioned that the studio was unhappy with her absence because she went to the President's birthday party especially since she had been out of the picture many days with illness. "I told the studio six weeks ago that I was going," she snapped. "I consider it an honor to appear before the President of the United States."

Out of Sight
It was shortly afterward that relations with the studio erupted with her firing and the hailing of threats and lawsuits. Marilyn dropped into seclusion. Everyone has his own memories of Marilyn Monroe. My own go back to her early days on the same lot, when she was a young and eager starlet. She seemed little different from the throng of starlets in the talent factories of that era, except perhaps that she gave a better interview. And when you saw her on the screen for the first time—alighting on a couch as Louis Calhern's mistress in "Asphalt Jungle"—you knew that she had that quality that separates stars from starlets. There were other times. When she appeared at an awards banquet in a clinging, eye-popping metallic gown and emcee Jerry Lewis expressed the thought of everyone: "Is she for real?" When she slinked into another dinner, late and luscious, and evoked a tirade from Joan Crawford for "poor taste." Other Times
There was the time a tearful Marilyn appeared on the arm of Jerry Giesler before the Beverly Hills home she shared no more with Joe DiMaggio. A happier time one Halloween at her New York apartment when she was married to Arthur Miller. Kids came by to play "trick or treat" and she didn't understand—she had never played such things as a child. There were other places other times but there won't be any more. The Marilyn Monroe story is over. It will long be debated whether she was an actress. No one will ever doubt that she was a star.

Beat Heat With Cool Schedule

No need to swelter and sweat when the scorching sun beats down this summer. Here are 17 practical ways to beat the heat. Close windows and doors during midday. Draw the shades on the sun rooms while cooking. Open kitchen windows while cooking. Expel superheated air. Wear loose lightweight clothing. Don't over-work, overlap or overeat. Replace with ventilating fan or plain electric fan blowing outward in an attic. Don't watch the thermometer. Keep cool, tempered. Don't fly. Place a bowl of ice in front of the fan during the afternoon and evening. Open doors and windows in the evening and place two or three electric fans in windows in different rooms to blow inward and bring cool air into the house. Use electric lights sparingly. Replace high-wattage bulbs with those of less intensity. Do the ironing in the cool morning hours. Wear loose lightweight clothing. Don't over-work, overlap or overeat. ALONG THE TRAIL — In the Museum of Medical Progress at Prairie du Chien, there's an interesting display of some of the superstitious tomfoolery in medical history.

In Ethiopia even today, the exhibit informs you, a highly desired medicine is made from powdered rhinoceros horn.

And in Russia, there was a time when a unicorn horn was valued as medication to such an extent that one unicorn horn was worth $30,000.

The exhibit specified one doctor's treatment. He is quoted as saying, "Acorns and whiskey are good for jaundice and dizziness provided you do not take too much whiskey."

The famed Grotto of Dickeyville is free for all comers and attracts thousands of persons each year. Built over a long period by a devout pastor of a local church, it is a bizarre collection of stones, glass, rocks, minerals, fossils, dishes, family heirlooms and everything conceivable, all cemented together in ornate designs. The whole, which covers several acres, is dedicated to "re-ligion and patriotism."

There is no charge for entering or viewing the sometimes beautiful formations. But perhaps people are generous. The only suggestion for contributions is on a sign at the maid diorama. It reads:

"You are invited to become a benefactor of the Grotto by depositing $1 or more in this gift box."

The story of the Indian maiden who leaped to her death from the high bluff near Maiden Rock, Wis., may be a true one and it may be legendary only. But the story is that she took her own life in the awesome leap, holding hands with her true love rather than live to wed an Indian she did not love.

Everybody knows her name—Winona. But the Indian brave who died with his own true love seems to have many because the story has been garbled over the years. Best bet is that it is one of either Redwing or Kewaunee.

Why Tennyson? The reason, of course, for the high number of generals from little Galena was General Grant. He operated a sort of a military spoils system, appointing his neighbors to the top military jobs.

I made an effort, in Tennyson, Wis., to find out why the folks there had chosen that monicker for the town, and my researches disclosed that the reason was no reason at all.

Tennyson was (and still is) in the lead and zinc mining region but it was settled by Germans. Nearby communities were settled by Irish and New England Yankees and there was much contention between them all.

The site chosen for the homes of the Erie-born was referred to as Irish Hollow. The New Englanders were said to live in Yankee Hollow, and the Germans were said to be congregated at Dutch Hollow.

The German population objected to the title and one day in 1913 they gathered together to give their community a more appropriate title. Heading the meeting was Father Peter Pape, pastor of St. Andrews Church there. Father Pape recommended that the townfolk name the community St. Andrews, but the suggestion was not well received.

A few other names—among them Tennyson—were suggested and then a vote was taken and it's simple as that. Tennyson won.

A diligent reporter, I scouted up one of her books and it was one of the prettiest things I've ever read. It seems to me that Mrs. Wilder (who was born near Lake Pepin) should live on and on. Her writing is sweet and gentle and it ought to last.

Back in the days when General Ulysses S. Grant was a fighting soldier from Galena, Ill., that city's population was many thousands greater than it is now, but it never reached a population of more than 22,000. (It is now 4,500).

Nevertheless, with only 22,000 people, that city produced an amazing total of nine Civil War generals. One of them was a full-blooded Indian.

THE PAGODA OF HONAN, China, BUILT 800 YEARS AGO IN THE BELIEF ITS WEIGHT WOULD HOLD DOWN THE GROUND—AND SO PREVENT EARTHQUAKES!

John EARL OF WORCESTER 1427-1470 SENTENCED TO DEATH IN LONDON England AS ATONEMENT FOR HIS MANY ACTS OF CRUELTY ORDERED THE HEADSMAN TO TAKE 3 STROKES

Founded Brewery

I found the city of Potosi, Wis., a fascinating one. It is tucked into a long, deep bowl which prohibits expansion anywhere but straight ahead. A result is that little Potosi, population about 600, is, at a guess, about five miles long.

Long, long ago in 1851 an Englishman named Hall stopped at the place which has become Potosi, and he admired a spring which gushed copiously from the rocks. He guessed that it would be many a year before that spring ran dry—and he was right.

He built a brewery there, in 1852, using the spring waters to make beer, and that brewery remained for many years until finally it was purchased in 1886 by the Schumacher family. The Schumachers developed the brewery into the Potosi Brewing Company which had—and still has—a 70,000 square mile market. The Potosi beer is marketed in Wisconsin, Iowa, Illinois, Minnesota and Nebraska.

'Local' Folks

It produces an average daily output of 40,000 barrels of Potosi beer. Although it is now a corporation, its president is A. W. Schumacher and its secretary is W. A. Schumacher, both sons of the man who acquired it in 1886.

And the old spring gushing from the rocks? It still flows at the rate of 200 gallons a minute.

Lawrence Says

Democrats May Lose if They Go 'Soft' on Reds

Takes More Than Arrests to Stop Communist Menace

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Is there a faction in the Democratic Party today which considers the fight against Communism in the United States as just a lot of nonsense?

If there is a renewed tendency in that direction, it is quite possible that the Democratic Party itself will be facing again the charge of being "soft on Communism" which led in part to its defeat in the 1952 Presidential and Congressional elections.

It seems strange that the 13-state conference of Western Democrats at Seattle should have given its time to listen to a speech by W. H. Ferry, vice president of the Fund for the Republic, denouncing as ineffective "spy-swatting" the efforts of the Federal Bureau of Investigation in fighting Communism.

Ferry said in one part of his speech:

"No one cares to have spies and saboteurs percolating through the republic, and if the FBI is not up to finding and prosecuting them, let us set up an agency that can."

Then Mr. Hoover warns:

Attacks Business

Not content with his blows at the FBI and its efforts to ferret out Communist subversives, Mr. Ferry aimed a few swipes at American business and industry. He took issue with those who have suggested that President Kennedy now is trying to "woo American business. Ferry said:

"Industry should not be wooed, but watched and tolerated and reined in when it gets out of line. They (the corporations) are not there to be loved but to be used."

Ferry, as vice president of the Fund for the Republic, has a lot to say nowadays about how the money accumulated by the late Henry Ford should be spent. Ford was probably the best example of how one man can build up an individual enterprise that this country has ever seen. He might never have made the success he did if American business had been regulated to the extent that it is today.

It's strange how often the funds bequeathed by men who are pilloried as "big business" are used by so-called "liberals" to create antagonisms against business as an institution

Ferry, in his address before the 13-state Democratic Party conference seemed to level his attack particularly at J. Edgar Hoover. This is not a new tactic.

For many years now, many persons have been trying to damage the prestige of the head of the FBI, but have not succeeded. Ferry said:

Ferry talks as if all the FBI has to do to get rid of persons suspected of Communist activities is to arrest them, and that they will then, of course, be convicted and put in jail without much difficulty.

But the truth of the matter is that Communist agents are not only subtle and skillful in their methods, but they know American laws very well and they have the benefit of resourceful American lawyers who manage to keep them out of jail.

Also, the Supreme Court of the United States has been of no little assistance on many occasions with its rulings that Communism is just a kind of belief and that freedom of speech should protect those accused of furthering the Communist cause in public. It's a bit difficult to prosecute — and even for Congressional and state legislative committees to investigate — when the arm of the law is thus weakened.

This means that the co-operation of the American people is most essential, and one of the most effective ways to combat Communism is to educate the people concerning the insidious methods used to influence them through the press, the radio, the church, the school systems, the educational faculties and the labor unions.

It is conceded that the number of Communists is small but that many innocent people have been duped and misled by the real Communist agents.

School District Six Voters May Decide Swimming Pool Issue

Board Might Borrow Funds if Advisory Referendum Approved

KIMBERLY—The question as to whether a swimming pool designed for year around use should be incorporated in the new $2,000,000 Kimberly High School is expected to be posed to voters of School District No. 6 in a referendum ballot this fall, according to village board members.

Members of the district voted at the annual meeting in July to hold an advisory referendum. The referendum would not be binding on the school board, but should the proposal receive overwhelming support, it is likely a special meeting of the district would be called to authorize the borrowing of money to finance the pool.

Bids Received For Kaukauna Sewer Building

No Action Taken Pending Tabulation By City Engineer

KAUKAUNA—Bids were received for the extension of sanitary sewer north of U. S. Highway 41 to the new Badger Northland property and surrounding area by the Kaukauna council Tuesday. No action was taken pending tabulation of bids by the engineer.

Bids ranged from a low of $2,590 to a high of $3,436.60 with three bids received. A report was made by public works board members, who toured the city investigating various sidewalk installation projects, tree and shrubbery problems at intersections which were brought before the board and areas requesting permission to plant trees in terraces.

Council members approved the recommendations to remove a stop sign from the 14th Street entrance to the hospital and install a stop sign on the road leading south from the hospital. Paul West, Grignon and Tobacco Streets, was granted permission to keep the hedge around his home as agreed to earlier by city officials and church officials near the West property.

A motion to remove the old driveway on the West property and replace it with curb and gutter was defeated 8-2. Parking on Third Street near the Badger Northland plant, and on Amanda Street from Lawe to Catherine Streets, were referred to the police department for investigation and recommendation.

Police were also instructed to study possible solutions to a hazardous pedestrian crossing area at an intersection slightly west of Gertrude Street.

Man Pleads Guilty To Exposure Charge

Arthur Kumrow, 37, 1619 S. Kern Ave., pleaded guilty in Outagamie County Court, Branch 2 Tuesday to a charge by three girls that he exposed himself.

Calumet Hospital Has Poison Control Center

Antidotes for Almost Every Known Type of Poisoning Provided

CHILTON — A poison control center has been established at Calumet Memorial Hospital recently as a gift of the hospital auxiliary.

The center serves as a guard against death by accidental poisoning. It includes a cabinet containing antidotes for almost every known type of poisoning; an alphabetical, cross-referenced list of cabinet contents; and a text containing readily accessible information on the ingredients, toxicity, antidotes and follow-up treatment of more than 15,000 household and commercial products. Two other references listing antidotes and treatment for overdoses of selected drugs were also included. Others will be added as they become available. Fred Eggers, hospital administrator, stated.

Center's Importance

Richard Strommen, assistant professor of pharmacy in charge of the University of Wisconsin extension program, spoke on the importance of such a center when he appeared before Calumet Memorial Hospital doctors some time ago.

In recent months, he said, 61 similar centers have been completed in the state. Many others are in the process of being established and it is hoped that eventually every community in the state having a hospital will have one. Strommen explained that the main advantage of this center is that all procedures involved in its use have been outlined and simplified. This factor makes it particularly adaptable to the small hospital, he said.

Strommen told the staff that accidental ingestion of poisonous materials by children is steadily increasing with 1,000 deaths in

House Didn't End Shelter Survey Plan

CD Officials Says Fox Cities Activity 'Very Much Alive'

Recent House of Representatives action on the federal Civil Defense budget cut out a proposed new shelter program, but left the current shelter survey program "very much alive," Lee Penney, Outagamie Appleton CD director, said today.

Also, Penney pointed out, the Senate, prompted by urging from the White House, may yet restore the House cuts.

The proposed shelter program cut out by the House would have supplied a federal grant of $2.50 for each square foot of fallout shelter space added in new or existing schools, hospitals and welfare institutions. This cut may be restored by the Senate, possibly now or possibly after the new session of Congress convenes in January.

Winding up Survey

However, the present "fallout shelter survey" is continuing at full steam, Penney explained. Architect-engineer teams hired by the department of defense now are winding up a survey of buildings in Outagamie County suitable for use as fallout shelters "as is," provided they are marked and stocked with food, water, radiation instruments and medical supplies. Building owners must first consent to the use of their buildings in time of war or emergency.

Penney said he has been securing "license" agreements this summer from building owners to permit the use of their properties as shelters in time of possible war. In October, he expects the first federal shelter supplies to begin arriving.

During the winter and spring, many shelter managers will have to be trained. Hundreds of radiation monitors also will be trained to read instruments showing if fallout radiation is present. CD police, fire and medical training programs also continue.

Steel Hour Comedy Tries Army Life

BY TV SCOUT

9-10 (Channel 2) — The Steel Hour uses tape, rather than live performances, for its show. This week "Male Call" was shot last April, so the show's staff would have a summer vacation. This is a comedy, strictly lightweight with a wartime setting. The stars are Larry Blyden, as a lieutenant afflicted with bad eyes, a marvelous cooking talent and a yen to do some real fighting. Fred Clark, as his silly commanding officer, Zohra Lampert, as the girl he writes home to. Mindy Carson as her pal and Gary Crosby as his pal whose additions to the letters causes the plot to come to some thing akin to a boil.

6-30-7-30 (Channel 4-5) — Wagon Train lets its rookie star Scott Miller as Duke Shannon carry the load on this week's repeat. Miller is sent to find a small group which has been scheduled to join the train and promptly finds himself leading a pack of neurotics on a forced march across the desert.

7-7-30 (Channel 11) — Focus On America visits Kansas for a program which has little to do with Kansas. This show, produced by KAKE-TV in Wichita, deals with the construction of a Titan II missile base in the state (specific location not specified). It is an interesting examination of just what goes into one of these silos.

7-30-8-30 (Channel 2) — Checkmate repeats a show which was a departure for the series — the firm isn't hired to find a killer, the killers find them. Sebastian Cabot is recording Gregorian chants in a monastery when two gunmen, fleeing the law, take over the place. On the outside, Anthony George and Doug McClure, puzzled over Cabot's absence, try to track him down.

8-9 (Channel 4-5) — The Mystery Theater features Janis Paige, a girl with plenty of vital talent in a murky melodrama called "Chez Rouge." This repeat originally on The Desilu Playhouse in February 1959) is one of those old items about a tough gal who runs a tough night club frequented by tough characters.

9-10 (Channel 1) — Naked City's repeat is a fine drama to begin with, but it gets out of performances, for its show, this hand toward the end. We follow John Larch and Geraldine Fitzgerald, as a patrolman and have a summer vacation. This is his wife Larch, between money worries and an infraction of the with a wartime setting. The stars rules begins to crack up and the are Larry Blyden, as a lieutenant crack widens as the story progresses with bad eyes a marvelous cooking talent and a yen to do some real fighting. Fred Clark, as his silly commanding officer, Zohra Lampert, as the girl he writes home to. Mindy Carson as her pal and Gary Crosby as his pal whose additions to the letters causes the plot to come to some thing akin to a boil.

MANAGER SAYS:

In my opinion "Judgment at Nuremberg" is one of the 5 best pictures in the past decade. Joining the select group of "Ben Hur," "Bridge On The River Kwai," "Around The World in 80 Days," and "The Ten Commandments" I would have given it the academy award for "best Picture."

It is a picture I recommend for everyone.

Halas Generates Optimism About 1962 NFL Season

Wade Entrenched as Starting Quarterback; Casaras Ready

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
RENSSELAER, Ind. (AP) — There is an optimistic glow in the Chicago Bears training camp at St. Joseph's College and much of it is generated by 67-year-old owner-coach George Halas.

"I refuse to make any predictions for the coming National Football League season," says Halas. "I will say, however, that I approach it with optimism."

Fransy Entrenched

The Bears haven't won the Western Conference title since 1956. Last season they shared third with Baltimore with an 8-4 record, winning three of their last four games.

They head into the 1962 campaign with Bill Wade firmly entrenched as the starting quarterback. It is the first time in years that the quarterback spot has been clearly settled. It should boost confidence not only for Wade but also for the whole team.

A year ago Wade and Ed Brown were alternating. Wade did not start a game until the fourth Sunday. Brown has been traded to the Pittsburgh Steelers. Behind Wade are Dick Norman, second year man from Stanford, and veteran Rudy Bukich.

"Wade now knows what his receivers can do and he can concentrate on timing and play execution," Halas says. "A year ago he had to learn the habits and speeds of a half dozen different receivers as well as a new set of offensive signals. That took time. Well into the regular season, yet Bill gave us a tremendous performance."

Wade, who joined the Bears from the Los Angeles Rams last year, completed 139 out of 220 tosses for 2,250 yards and 22 touchdowns for the Bears despite sharing the quarterback spot.

Rick Casaras, who had a knee operation during the off-season, appears ready to blast against at fullback after being handicapped with injuries in 1961. Bill Brown, Bill Tunnell of Michigan, a 230-pound rookie, and Charley Bivins add fullback explosiveness. Bivins, listed as a halfback, especially has been impressive and starred in a scrimmage against the All-Stars at the Bears camp.

Halfback Contingent

Ronnie Bull of Baylor and speedster Benny McRae of Michigan, No. 1 and 2 draft choices, strengthen a halfback contingent already bristling with such proven players as Willie Galimore, Johnny Morris and James D. Smith.

McRae may be used in the defensive secondary, where most of the Bears' problems appear. Other newcomers being tried there are Billy Martin of Minnesota, just out of the Marines; Tommy Neck, captain of LSU's Chinese Bandits; and Walt Weaver, Adams State (Colo.) J.C. Caroline, Dave Whitsett, Richie Pettibone, Roosevelt Taylor and Bobby Jackson are the veterans in this category.

The Bears intercepted 24 passes last year, 14 more than in 1960, but opponents completed 209 aerials, 27 for touchdowns.

Mike Ditka, rookie of the year in 1961, John Farrington, Angelo Coia and John Adams have the offensive end jobs under control.

But a sleeper could be a free agent, Tommy Hackler of Tennessee Tech. He stands 6-foot-4 and weighs 215 pounds. In the last two years for his Cookeville School, he snared 67 passes for 1,000 yards and five touchdowns.

There is plenty of bulk in the new linemen—Clyde Brock, Utah State, 270 pounds; Jim Cadile, San Jose State, 245; John Nelson, Xavier (Ohio), 235; Gregg Orth, Indiana 225, and Brian O'Connor, Southern Connecticut State, 240.

If any of them can win a starting berth from the supply of hard-nosed veteran linemen on hand, the best bet is Brock, a tackle, and Cadile, guard.

With Brown gone, the punting chores will go to Bobby Joe Green, who came in the trade with Pittsburgh. Last year he had a 47-yard average. The placekicker again is Roger LeClerc.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mrs. Edna Stengel, wife of New York Met Manager Casey Stengel, was bruised on the jaw when hit by a flying splintered bat during the Met-Los Angeles Dodgers game Tuesday night.

The bat broke when Willie Davis fouled off a pitch in the fifth inning.

The upper part of the bat shot into the stands and hit Mrs. Stengel sitting in one of the front rows. The injury was not serious. She was treated by Dodger doctors and driven to her home in nearby Glendale. She said she will join her husband in New York Sunday as previously planned.

Another woman, also sitting in one of the front rows, was struck in the eye by a foul ball off Frank Howard's bat in the seventh inning.

She was not identified. Dodger attendants led her to the clubhouse dispensary for treatment.

Lou Perini Becomes Grandfather of Twins

NEWTON, Mass., (AP) — Lou Perini, owner of the Milwaukee Braves, became the grandfather of twins late Monday night. His daughter, Mary Iglesias, gave birth to the two boys at Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

The first was born at 11:32 p.m., and the second at 11:50. One weighed 5 pounds, 2 ounces and the other 5 pounds, 10 ounces.

The Iglesias have another son.

Menasha Okays Traffic Changes

Common Council Votes 10-1 In Favor of Clark's Suggestions

MENASHA — Major traffic changes, as suggested by Police Chief Lester Clark, were approved Tuesday by a 10-1 Common Council vote.

Only Ald. Julian Weisgerber objected, because the plan calls for a temporary westbound one-way on Third Street between Racine and Milwaukee Streets. Mayor John Klein informed the council he had heard objections to the parking ban on the east side of Racine Street between 2-70 and 5 p.m. daily from one attorney and two business people on the street.

The plan will provide for free left turns from Ahnape into the Racine Street bridge, and during the 2-30 to 5 p.m. hours, free right turns off the bridge, with that traffic holding the curb lane. Left turns off Main Street will continue as now, spaced by the turn arrow in the three-way intersection.

At Third Street, free right turns will be provided off Racine Street Banning of car parking in those 2½ hours of each working day will add one traffic lane.

New Mechanism Coming

Southbound traffic will turn left at Third into Racine without giving way to oncoming traffic, since Third will be one-way. After a new traffic light mechanism is received in about two months, the right will be converted to allow a left turn cycle and the one-way will be abolished.

Traffic going south over the bridge will use two lanes — the curb lane for free right turns into Ahnape Street and the inside lane for a full stop at the intersection before turning into Naymut, Keyes or Riverway.

Yield right-of-way signs will be erected at the south end of Riverway and at the north end of Naymut.

Walter P. Girard, electrical inspector, showed letters from the State Highway Commission on the proposed changes.

Earlier, City Atty. Richard J. Steffens said the commission had informed him there never had been any contact from Menasha about the changes. The letters Girard had indicated tentative approval of the traffic light changes.

Girard will investigate installation of a flashing signal for pedestrian safety on River Street between two Marathon plants, to replace the hanging signal, which is illegal.

He also was authorized to get a new control for the Garfield-Washington traffic light, which has broken down.

Neenah School, Site, Cost at $1,033,622

$27,348 Advanced For Coolidge From Fernald Fund

NEENAH — Cost of the building, site and site improvement at the new Neenah Junior High School is $1,033,622, according to the building fund report of June 30, 1962, presented to the Neenah Board of Education.

Similar reports for the same period show that the City of Neenah has advanced from its general fund $27,348 for the Coolidge Elementary School and $62,235 for the Neenah High School construction projects.

Summarily the building cost at Neenah Junior High School is $974,448.60 and site and site improvement $59,173, less $617.40 for an insurance refund. Of this amount $4,268 is paid from the regular building funds and the $1,029,353 balance is paid from bond issue funds. The bond issue for Neenah Junior High School was $1,070,000.

Instructional equipment cost $32,604 and furniture and general equipment $57,569. There is a $340.61 refund deducted from instructional equipment, received from the National Defense Educational Association for Science Laboratory.

Total Available

Total building funds are $1,128,188, including the bond issue, money appropriated by the City for architects fees, money from the city's general funds surplus and budget balances. The City Council appropriated $13,572.57 in May of this year to cover overdrafts and there was $7,263 in additional funds included from the 1961 regular Board budget.

There is still an unexpended balance of $5,650 in the Neenah Junior High School building fund. Dr. Donald Scott reports that this money will be used to complete site improvements.

Breaking down the building cost shows: Precour Construction Co., Oshkosh, general contract—$545,661.76; A. H. Angermeyer, heating and ventilating, $71,956.48; Mullen Electric, Appleton, electrical, $87,236.80; Rhode Brothers, Plymouth, plumbing, $172,488 and Perkins and Will, Chicago, architects, $53,819.23.

Value Placed at $750 2 Women Bound Over On Fur Theft Charges

OSHKOSH — Two Chicago women were bound over for further proceedings on charges of stealing four furs April 16 from Newman's Store in Oshkosh, after preliminary hearing Tuesday afternoon. Value of the stolen furs was placed at $750.

The pair, Angela Jones, 23, and Geraldine Gay, 29, were jailed in default of $5,000 bond each.

Similar charges against two Chicago men, Willie Williams, 23, and Eddie King, 26, were dropped for lack of evidence.

Arraignment on the theft charges was delayed on request of defense attorneys who asked time to prepare motions to present to the court. The motions, grounds for which were not revealed, will be heard Aug. 15.

A defense motion previously filed asking dismissal of the charges on grounds the arrests were made as a result of an illegal search and seizure, was denied by County Branch Three Judge James V. Sitter.

The two women were arrested near Wisconsin Dells by the present Menasha police chief, Lester D. Clark, who was then chief of the Wisconsin Dells police.

Furs from the Oshkosh theft, plus several other thefts, were found in the defendants' car.

The four Negroes will face theft charges in Outagamie County Court, Branch 2, next Wednesday. They were to appear Tuesday, but were delayed in Winnebago County jail.

There are charges against the Negroes in Portage County also, where they were arrested.

Muffler Charge Means Jail Term

OSHKOSH — Driving a car with faulty mufflers cost Donald C. Johnson, 23, 4028 W. Capitol Dr., Appleton $150 and 15 days in the Winnebago County jail.

Johnson was sentenced this morning by Judge James V. Sitter for driving after revocation of his driver's license.

Johnson was stopped by state police July 15 on State 114 in the Town of Menasha for having a faulty muffler. A check revealed his driver's license had been revoked two years ago for drunken driving.

Conviction for driving after revocation carries an automatic jail sentence when the original revocation was for drunken driving.

Guadalcanal Victory First Step on Long Road Back

20 Years Ago Today, U. S. Marines Went Over the Side

BY TOM HENSHAW Associated Press Staff Writer

Through the pre-dawn mists, the island mass rose mysterious, menacing and dark against the moonlit sky as the invasion fleet stole stealthily around its western cape.

The only sounds were the soft swish of water against the moving prows of the ships and the murmur of muted conversation among men of the 1st Marine Division huddled below decks in their transports.

As the first streaks of dawn crawled up the eastern sky, the big guns of the cruiser Quincy crashed the overture and shells burst among the palms and jungle and Japanese camps on the island.

ged Solomon with sufficient level area for the construction of a major airstrip.

But the Marines, in the six months that followed, came to know it best.

Green, Rotten Isle

It was a beautiful green South Sea isle—and it was rotten. It stank with the accumulated decay of centuries. Its jungles continually dripped of moisture and its swamps crawled with germs of strange tropical diseases.

The landings were unexpectedly easy. The Marines overran the airstrip, renamed Henderson Field and the Japanese camps, where breakfasts were found on the tables. The ease of the landings made the Marines apprehensive. Maybe it was a trap. But it wasn't. It was complete surprise.

The battle for Guadalcanal did not really begin for several days when the Japanese returned in

Over the Side

Moments later, green-clad Marines went over the side, scrambled down swaying cargo nets into the landing boats and shoved off toward the beach.

They knew not what awaited them, for they were the first.

The Navy communique, issued later the same day, Aug. 7, 1942, was terse and uninformative, yet it electrified a nation that was sinking into despair under the weight of defeat. It said:

"United States naval and other forces have attacked enemy installations in the southeastern part of the Solomon Islands in force and the attacks are continuing."

The Road Back

After eight months of gallant stands and galling retreats at Batasan, Wake Island, Singapore and the East Indies, America and her allies were at last starting the long road back.

It was some time before the precise point of attack emerged from the morass of rumor and secrecy. Then it became a household word: Guadalcanal.

On maps of the Pacific the Solomon Islands, a 900-mile long chain, sprawl atop the continent of Australia like an overhanging roof pointing directly at the allied lifeline between America and Australia.

The groping fingers of the Japanese empire, seemingly invincible, reached Guadalcanal at the tip of the Solomon chain in June 1942 and coiled to spring south on the Australian flank.

Time and Place

Clearly, the time to stop them was the summer of 1942. And clearly the place to do it was Guadalcanal.

Geographers knew Guadalcanal as a 2,500-square-mile island of mountains, jungle, and sandy beaches, peopled by dark, fuzzy-haired Melanesians, ruled by the British and noted for its coconut plantations.

Military strategists, poring over their meager maps, saw it was one of the few islands in the rug-force. And it didn't end until the last contingent of Japanese were driven from the island on Feb. 9, 1943.

Mrs. Elmer (Grace) Grade, Grosse Point, Mich., Mrs. Bernice Martin and Miss Mary Corry of Menasha, Mrs. John (Catherine) Wynyard, Madison, Mrs. Patrick (Patricia) Sullivan, Brookhaven, Pa., and Sister Raymond Mary (Elizabeth), Chicago: three sons, Gordon, Madison, Matthew, Milwaukee, and Edward, Menasha; 40 grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren.

Casualties

Marine casualties were 1,200 killed, 3,070 wounded. The Army lost 550 killed, 1,200 wounded. Some 28,500 Japanese died on the island.

Guadalcanal was the proving ground for the Marines in World War II.

Learn From Enemy

There they learned the awful loneliness of the battlefield when the Navy was lashed in the battle of Savo Island and for days they were left unprotected from enemy attacks by air and sea.

They learned from the enemy the tricks of jungle warfare. They learned too that the Japanese were not invincible by meeting and hurling back the wild, noisy charges of the crack Ichiki detachment and the Sendai Division, the small brown men in baggy uniforms who rarely surrendered but fought to the death.

The lessons of Guadalcanal were carried on to other places with unfamiliar names on the bloody road to Tokyo—Tarawa, Peleliu, Iwo Jima. But always, Guadalcanal comes first.

State Colleges Plan Future Cooperation

Greater Use of TV May Bring Campuses 'Closer Together'

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — The state college system which for many years has operated virtually isolated campuses may be coordinated more closely in the future, according to current deliberations of the council of state college presidents.

The outlook for greater use of educational television facilities by the colleges has apparently inspired planning for other cooperative services of the eight schools, and especially by those that are relatively close to each other geographically, such as those in western Wisconsin.

The college heads are hopeful that Wisconsin may get a share of the new federal aid appropriation for the extension of television teaching services. Any such project would be coordinated with the existing and planned television work of the University of Wisconsin, which is also eagerly scouting such opportunities.

Film Library
Among the possibilities for more effective collaboration by the colleges in the future that are under review are a system-wide educational film library, a centralized approach to faculty recruiting, television communication between colleges aside from state-wide broadcasting, joint library collections of significant book resources, inter-library loaning, and a circuit riding approach to concerts and lectures as well as joint appointments by institutions to permit more than one school to use the services of key instructors.

There has also been a preliminary review of the possibility of transferring students among the schools, to permit them to take advantage of distinguished teachers or special departmental resources for periods of a semester or a year.

In the television field, the school presidents have explored the idea of joint broadcasting by the schools at Menomonie, River Falls and Eau Claire, possibly through a tower at Colfax or Durand, as a nucleus for the state-wide broadcasting facilities hoped for in the long range.

KAUKAUNA — Rich's Bar took over sole possession of first place in the City Softball League Monday night by pounding out an 18-3 win over Badger Northland.

The second game saw Mullen Barbers down Dick and Betty's Bar 18-3 in a game shortened to five innings by the lopsided score. Lou Rogers hurled the win for Rich's and Dan Voet was charged with the loss.

Rogers helped his own cause with two homers and a triple. Don Schommer had a homer and a double and Jack Coenen doubled. Badger managed five hits, all singles.

Jerry Vande Loo hurled the win for Mullen's. Dick Bonnee homered and Gerry Meulemans doubled for the winners while Jim Reichel doubled for the losers. Tim Femal was the losing hurler.

Milwaukee Man Turns Self in For 'Hit and Run'

OSHKOSH — A Milwaukee man turned himself in to Oshkosh police Tuesday night so he would not be charged with hit and run driving, but ended up with charges of drunken driving and reckless driving being placed against him instead.

James Grant, 22, admitted both charges this morning and was fined $200 on each charge by Judge James V. Sitter. Grant's driver's license was revoked for one year.

At 9:57 p.m. Tuesday Oshkosh police received several calls of a car being driven recklessly on Hazel Street and then on the grass in Menominee Park. The car reportedly narrowly missed hitting a young couple with a baby.

Placed in Solitary
A few minutes later, while squad cars were looking for Grant, a car skidded to a halt in front of the police station and the driver announced he had hit a tree in Menominee Park and he did not want to be charged with hit and run driving.

The driver turned out to be Grant who then had to be handcuffed, after being booked, in order to be taken to the jail. Grant later had to be placed in solitary confinement and restraining cuffs put on him to prevent him from breaking up the cell and hanging himself.

Van Camp's Club Will Hold Grand Opening Sunday

The grand opening of the newly remodeled and redecorated Babe Van Camp's Club, S. Memorial Drive, will be held at 3 p.m. Sunday.

Gifts for guests have been arranged and tours of the premises will be conducted. The decor, including new furniture throughout, now is English Colonial. The club had been closed for four weeks for the remodeling.

Van Camp's originally opened in 1941 and has undergone four major remodeling or enlargement programs. Van Camp's employs 33 persons and features luncheon and dinner menus. Previous to opening his own club, Van Camp worked for 6½ years at the former Normandie owned by Arthur Searls.

Woman Killed in Farm Accident

CHILTON — Mrs. Louis Mueller, 46, route 1, Hilbert, was killed in a harvesting accident on the family farm about three miles north of here about 8:45 a.m. today.

Mueller was driving a tractor pushing a wagonload of freshly combined hay up an incline and into the barn. The wagon pulled snapped and the wagon and tractor swerved toward Mrs. Miller who was walking alongside.

She was apparently hit by a push pole along the head, Mueller said.

Kapitzke Funeral Home, Hilbert, will be in charge of arrangements. The Muellers have four school age children.

Tot Chokes to Death On Sand at Beach

MARION — James Kuschel, nine-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Kuschel, drowned Tuesday afternoon at Marion pond.

The fat was rushed to a Marion doctor where efforts to revive him were fruitless.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Thursday at Eberhardt and Hoh Funeral Home, Clintonville, with the Rev. Donald Biester, St. Martin Lutheran Church, officiating. Burial will be in St. Martin Cemetery.

Car Given Polka Dots

A car parked in a garage owned by Dennis Carew, 1775 N. Mason St., was painted with white spots sometime between 5 and 8 p.m. Tuesday. Police said brushes in the garage may have been used.

Laird to Keep Asking Chances To Cut Costs

Congresman Has Little Hope for Reduction in Taxes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., said Tuesday he will continue to give Congress an opportunity to vote for less government spending when final action is taken on various appropriation bills.

Unless Congress cuts government expenditures, Laird said, there is little chance of any tax reduction proposals being passed.

Last week the House rejected, 214-173, a motion by Laird to cut 140 million from the $800.8 million for the National Institutes of Health.

Similar Moves

Instead, both the House and Senate agreed to the $800.8 million recommended by a Senate-House conference committee, even though it was about $100 million more than asked for by President Kennedy.

Laird, a member of the House Appropriations Committee, said he will make similar moves when other conference reports come before the house on appropriations for other governmental agencies.

"I am going to embark on a program to give Congress a chance to vote to reduce these costs," Laird said.

No Tax Cut

He said he does not believe Kennedy will ask Congress to reduce taxes at this session.

"The Democratic and Republican leadership of the House Ways and Means Committee has made it clear that President Kennedy

People Persuaders

Byrnes, Mills of House Committee Exert Great Power in Tax Matters

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two members of the House Ways and Means Committee, one from Wisconsin, have a powerful influence on their colleagues in tax matters.

And neither has stated publicly in detail his thinking on the controversial question of whether a tax cut is needed soon to strengthen the nation's economy.

They are Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., and Rep. John W. Byrnes, R-Wis., currently the No. 2 Republican on the committee.

Both men are good personal friends and both have the same generally conservative viewpoints, although both remain staunch party men.

Byrnes spokesman Although Mason outranks Byrnes, the Wisconsin lawmaker has been the Republican spokesman on the committee for quite some time. With the retirement of Mason at the end of this Congress, Byrnes officially becomes the senior Republican on the committee.

And, if the nation should elect a Republican House in November, Byrnes would become chairman of the committee in which all tax matters must originate before they can go before Congress.

Mills, now presiding over closed hearings to get the views of economists on tax cut proposals, is reported to be against a tax reduction at this time.

Byrnes is reported to have an open mind on the subject. But he is also pictured as believing that if tax cuts are determined to be necessary, they must be accompanied by a reduction in government spending, with President Kennedy's support.

An associate of Byrnes said he looks upon a tax cut at this time as a very dangerous and drastic step which he would not support unless it can be shown that a tax cut is vitally necessary for the economy.

Both Mills and Byrnes have opposed the Administration's proposal to provide hospitalization benefits for the aged under the Social Security System.

That is one of the main reasons why the Ways and Means Committee failed to send a medical care bill to the House even in the face of a vigorous push by Kennedy. It became an academic matter in the committee, however, when the Senate defeated such a measure, 30-67.

During committee consideration of the administration's trade expansion bill, Mills agreed to various amendments suggested by Byrnes. One of these was designed to strengthen protective features for American industry and labor. The bill cleared the House and is expected to be passed by the Senate this summer.

Market in Third Day of Losses

Trading Moderate; Investors Talk of Summer Doldrums

By RICHARD H. HOENIG
AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Prices fell early this afternoon as the stock market headed for its third straight decline.

The trading pace continued only moderate, giving emphasis to some Wall Street talk of summer doldrums.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off 1.0 at noon of 216 with industrials down 1.9 and utilities off .3.

Some Plus Signs
At noon the Dow Jones industrial average was off 2.97 at 215.38.

As in the last two sessions most of the losses were relatively small. The trend was lower from the start but as the session continued a few more small plus signs appeared.

Drugs, steels and rails led the way downward. Most other major industry groups also fell.

An exception were some of the building material issues. Johns-Manville and U.S. Gypsum were both ahead major fractions. Construction activity continues at a high level.

Many of the rails showed fractional losses as the possibility of a strike next week mounted.

A handful of firms in the international communications field posted declines of 1/4 to almost a point. Late Tuesday the chairman of RCA proposed creation of an independent, privately owned U.S. monopoly in the field.

Drugs Fall Fast
Among the drugs Richardson-Merrell was down more than 2/3. Pfizer and Schering more than 1/2. Tuesday a congressional committee tightened several provisions of a new drug control bill it had already approved.

Martin-Marietta, the volume leader the last two sessions, held a small fraction lower after opening on another big block of 43,000. Some selling in this issue in recent sessions has been credited to a large but unidentified mutual fund.

Mrs. Ken Spaay Gets Hole-in-1 At Ridgeway

Mrs. Ken Spaay, 825 Ridge Lane, recorded a hole-in-one on the 158-yard No. 8 hole at Ridgeway Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Spaay was a guest of Mrs. Paul Vanderheiden at the club and making up the threesome was Mrs. Lou Riley.

Mrs. Spaay used a No. 3 wood on the shot. Club pro Bob Below said it was the first hole-in-one at the club in the last six years.

The American Medical Association, the council said. The terms define the council said. "Both butter and coconut oil can be shown to raise serum cholesterol, whereas corn oil and whale oil can lower it." The terms "saturated" and "unsaturated" also are unsuitable for distinguishing fats which raise or lower fat concentrations, it said. "since neither all saturated fatty acids nor all unsaturated fatty acids are identical in their effects upon serum cholesterol concentrations in man." Increasing interest in control of hypercholesterolemia by regulation of dietary fat has developed because of evidence suggesting that serum cholesterol concentrations are related to hardening of the arteries, the council said. The amount and kind of dietary fat are among the most important factors controlling fat concentrations in the blood, it said. Status-relationship between diet, blood cholesterol and the rate of coronary artery disease exists in various populations, it said. Many studies also have indicated a "close association" between elevation of blood triglyceride concentration and coronary artery disease, the council said. The cause of fat-induced hypertriglyceridemia has not been determined, it said, but some investigators those which serum lipid levels," have proposed that it is "probably a rare familial disorder." The treatment of hypercholesterolemia with a low-fat diet is "not effective," the council said. The effect of simply reducing fat intake is to lower blood cholesterol concentration but raise blood triglyceride concentration, it said. "Increasing the ratio of polyunsaturated fat to saturated fat in the diet is the preferred method for treating the 'usual' hypercholesterolemia," the council said. Alteration of dietary fat is usually not necessary in the treatment of obesity on the basis of current scientific evidence, the council added. The basic cause of obesity is an intake of calories in excess of what the body needs, the report said. Treatment consists of reducing total caloric intake, it said. The report, entitled "The Regulation of Dietary Fat," also discusses the chemistry and metabolism of fats and other disease situations in which fat modification is indicated. It was prepared by the ad hoc Committee on Dietary Fat Levels of the council. Members of the committee are David B. Hand, Ph.D., Geneva, N. Y., chairman; Elizabeth K. Case, D.P.H., Boston; William J. Darby, M.D., Nashville, Tenn.; Charles S. David, M.D., Nashville, Tenn.; Paul L. Day, M.D., Bethesda, Md.; George V. Mann, M.D., Nashville, Tenn.; Robert E. Olson, M.D., Pittsburgh; and Philip L. Father of 7 Minor Children Jailed 364 Days for Non-Support

A father of seven minor children was ordered held in Outagamie County jail for 364 days when he pleaded guilty Monday to non-support.

Floyd Mieschmidt 42 route 1, Black Creek, a farmhand, was granted Huber law privileges and will work out of the jail.

Mieschmidt was charged by his wife to not contributing to the support of her or her seven minor children. She told the court her husband has not paid the rent since December and the family is being evicted.

Mrs. Mieschmidt said she has two other children over 18 years of age, and is expecting a 10th child soon.

Dear Glenn:

For the past 14 years we have been consistent advertisers in the Post-Crescent. When, in the fall of 1961, you began publication of a Sunday paper, we immediately took advantage of the greater opportunities it appeared to offer us.

Though it is customary for an advertising medium to promote its advantages to the advertiser, I cannot help but reverse the procedure and let you know why we consider the Sunday paper so valuable to the sale of our products.

First, we are, of course, well aware of the fact that the Sunday Post-Crescent enjoys increased coverage throughout the Fox River Valley, reaching into communities which would otherwise not get a Sunday paper, at least of the caliber of the Post-Crescent. I, personally, consider this a bonus readership.

Second, it is obvious that Sunday is the day when the family, with time for relaxed reading, enjoys the many features of the Sunday paper. There is time, too, to digest its advertising content and discuss merchandise necessitating an above average investment. We know this pays. For instance, following the insertion of an ad on our porch enclosure last week, we received five calls resulting in three sales. We regard this as a gratifying response considering the customers investment in their homes.

We at Tom Temple Window and Door Sales think a lot of your Sunday paper. We are grateful for the opportunities provided and the results obtained by Sunday Post-Crescent advertising. We feel we have a stake in the Sunday paper and are happy to note your continued success in advancing its circulation, prestige, and value to your advertisers and readers.

Cordially,
